GERMANS YIELD TO NEW ALLIED DRIVE

BRITISH LAUNCH A NEW ATTACK ALONG THE YPRES FRONTS

Northeast and East of New Lines the Assault Is Made and Satisfactory
Progress Is Reported.

GERMANS COUNTER-ATTACK HEAVILY

London, Oct. 9.—The British attacked on a wide front northeast of Ypres this morning, the war office announced.

Satisfactory progress is being made everywhere. The attack, the statement says, was made "in conjunction with our allies."

The British statement says: "At 5:20 o'clock this morning we again attacked on a wide front east and northeast of Ypres in conjunction with our allies on our left. Reports indicate that satisfactory progress is being made on all parts of the battle front. The weather continues stormy."

GERMANS PUSHED BACK.

British front in France and Belgium, Oct. 9.—The British have pushed back the Germans through Post-cappelle and are fighting in the eastern outskirts of the city, about a large brewery.

Summary of the Day's War News

Without regard to the highly unfavorable weather conditions prevailing and in a surprisingly short time after the successful British thrust of last week the British and French forces in Belgium have launched another heavy attack on the German lines. The blow fell early today in the region east and northeast of Ypres, where Crown Prince Rupprecht's lines had already been dangerously bent back by the previous British thrusts.

The British commander early reported satisfactory progress on all parts of the front of the attack which he announced was made in conjunction "with our allies on our left."

Shortly afterward the Paris official statement indicated clearly that the French forces in Flanders were those alluded to by the British commander in chief. The launching of an attack in concert with the British was announced and the favorable development of the attack reported.

A considerable force of French troops took part in the Flanders drive on July 31 and in the subsequent fighting that followed consolidated the

ARGENTINE STILL REFUSES TO MAKE CUT WITH BERLIN

Buenos Aires, Oct. 9.—The Argentine government is not prepared to follow the action of Uruguay in severing diplomatic relations with Germany, according to Foreign Minister Pueyrredon. Argentina has not pledged her neutrality, the foreign minister added, but is attempting to guard her own interests. Relations with Germany will be broken if sufficient cause arises, but as long as Germany recognizes the Argentine flag and respects the nation and the people there probably will be no break.

Much surprise has been occasioned in political circles here by the following statement said to have been made by the foreign minister of Uruguay in urging the Uruguayan congress to break off relations with Germany:

"Uruguay, as a small nation between two great ones, must seek a balance of force to resist the possible hegemony of Argentina, with which nation we still have questions which are not settled definitely. This balance consists in bringing closer together Brazil and the states of our connection with the great states of the present conflict so that it will make impossible an attack on Uruguay, sovereignty without an immediate reversion throughout the American continent."

The unsettled questions between Uruguay and Argentina concern the river Platte. Argentina claims that the river belongs to her, while Uruguay insists that she own one-half. The dispute involves the ownership of the important island of Martine Garcia, now held by Argentina.

GOVERNMENT HAS VICTORY

Russia's Provisional Organization Comes Out at the Top.

PARLIAMENT HAS YIELDED POSITION

Act Hereafter in Advisory Capacity.

Petrograd, Monday, Oct. 8.—The provisional government apparently has won a complete victory over the preliminary parliament. M. Tseretelli, one of the leaders of parliament, today informed Premier Kerensky that the parliament had withdrawn all its demands that the government be responsible to it and it had acceded to the government's plan that the parliament act merely in an advisory legislative position.

It has been agreed that the council shall have a right to put questions, but not the initial legislation and to deliberate on measures to which the government lays before it.

The government will work out the program for the parliament for the first meeting of which Premier Kerensky probably will personally lay before it the government's new program. At the suggestion of the government members of the Bourgeoisie will sit in the parliament.

Premier Kerensky today officially informed all those selected last Thursday of their appointment to the new coalition cabinet. M. Masloff, who was offered the ministry of agriculture, declined on the ground that the interests of the present required his attention. M. Skobelev, Kerensky's choice for minister of labor, has not decided whether he will accept.

A KILLING FROST HITS MANY STATES

But Little Damage is Done
by Cold Weather on Nearby Farms.

The heaviest frost of the season hit the central and eastern states Monday evening. A killing frost is indicated by the daily weather map to have touched all of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Arkansas and Michigan and a part of Texas, Tennessee and Georgia. The result of the frost was eminent at the local market Tuesday morning. Very few gardeners were present, and those who were stationed at the stalls had very little produce on sale save that which they had had stored in places of shelter. Gardeners residing in the Tunkel, Mayville and Wayne road roads all state that the frost Monday evening was the heaviest of the season, but that it did very little material damage as practically all of the garden produce had been harvested.

One gardener on the Bluffton road stated that although his loss was not very large, a considerable number of tomatoes and an acre of corn was hit hard by the frost of Friday evening. Very few farmers were caught unprepared by the frost and practically all of them are now in readiness for the long siege of winter.

AWAIT REPORTS ON SHELLING OF ITALIAN U-BOAT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Full reports on the shelling of an Italian submarine by a United States patrol ship through a misunderstanding resulting in the death of an officer and enlisted man, are being awaited today by the navy department from Vice Admiral Sims, commanding the American naval forces in European waters. Secretary Daniels of the navy has sent a cablegram expressing deep regret for the unfortunate occurrence to the Italian minister of marine.

TO PROTECT CAMPS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Formal orders were issued today directing that no concessions be granted at training camps within the camp precincts for privately owned amusements or recreation in view of the entertainment facilities planned by the government. Wherever possible, however, government ground adjacent to the camps or cantonments will be opened to private motion picture houses and the like under control of the military authorities.

TOMORROW.

The stores open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 6 o'clock, (Fort Wayne time, which is 5 o'clock visitors time.)

Many of the merchants who offer attractive "Specials" for tomorrow are represented in today's Sentinel. All members of the Fort Wayne Suburban Day Trade Association are easily identified by the trade mark shown in their display windows—the same that appears in many of the advertisements today.

Make yourself at home in these stores, whether you go to buy or not. It is the plan of these firms to make your acquaintance first. Salespeople are there to welcome you and make you feel at home, whether your visit is for sight-seeing or trade. Many of the stores are equipped with rest rooms and all that goes to make for comfort to the visitor and the stranger.

The theaters provide entertainment in the afternoon and evening for those who have the time to spare. Consider every Fort Wayne citizen as one who is here to give you the glad hand and make you feel that Fort Wayne appreciates your friendliness and is glad to reciprocate.

WOULD EXEMPT THE FIFTH SON FROM THE ARMY

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 9.—Gov. Edge today took action to have exempted from service in the national army Paul Masterson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Masterson, of Lambertville, whose four older sons already had volunteered.

"I feel that the sacrifice you have been called upon to make is too great," the governor wrote to the parents, "and that it is not the object of the national government to deprive you of your last means of support; consequently I have directed the adjutant general to confer with the local exemption board with the view of having your son Paul exempted."

The exemption board was examined Masterson's case and so certified to the adjutant general.

SENATOR NEW WILL BE HERE TONIGHT

Senator Harry S. New will be a visitor in Fort Wayne this evening and has written ahead that he will be glad to meet his friends at the Anthony hotel at 8:30 o'clock. He is on his way to Lagrange where he is scheduled for a speech Wednesday at the corn school. Arrangements are being made for an informal reception in his honor by a number of local republicans.

WILL MAKE EARLY DECISION.

Washington, Oct. 8.—To permit an early decision, the supreme court today advanced appeals involving constitutionality of the draft law and the right of a citizen to refuse to

NEW PEACE PROPOSALS

Germany and Austria Are
to Submit Them.

GIVE UP BELGIUM
AND FRENCH LANDS

No Territorial Aggrandizement and No Indemnities to Be Basis.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—Germany and Austria-Hungary have agreed to make another peace offer to the allies, the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, of Berlin, says it learns on good authority. The offer will have as its basis no territorial aggrandizement.

The surrender of Belgium and French territory, the renunciation of positive territorial acquisitions for payment in money and no indemnity on either side.

HEFFERICH MAY RESIGN.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—There is growing displeasure in German parliamentary circles against Dr. Karl Helfferich, owing to Saturday's events in the reichstag. The General Anzeiger of Dusseldorf prints a report that Dr. Helfferich will resign the vice chancellors in a few weeks, if not sooner.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Kindergarten Teachers Will
Convention.

Many matters of importance were passed upon at the school board meeting held Monday afternoon. Permission has been granted to the kindergarten teachers of Fort Wayne to attend the National Institute of Kindergarten teachers in Chicago next April, and they will therefore be excused from the convention to be held in Indianapolis.

The vocational school report was read and it was found that enrollments have been exceptionally heavy, fifty-two enrolling in the dressmaking course alone. The board decided to grant the request of the vocational school in regards to automobile motors.

A six and four cylinder motor will be installed at the school within a short time. Two new teachers were also engaged. Miss Pauline Saylor will give lessons in painting and Miss Emma Dixon will give cooking lessons.

BRIDGEPORT JOB BETTER THAN AN OFFICE OR MINE

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 9.—Good wages were paid in this city before the war; high wages were the rule after hostilities broke out; now "an era of extravagance wages seems to have set in," according to C. E. Billon, president of the manufacturers' association. Workmen in factories here, he said are getting $50 a week in a large proportion of cases, while $70 and up is not uncommon.

All lines of men are affected.

PACIFISTS ARE GIVEN TRIAL ON DRAFT CHARGES

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 9.—Adolph Germer, of Chicago, national secretary of the socialist party, and twelve other persons, among them two clergymen and a number of prominent local socialists, were to be placed on trial in United States district court here today on charges of conspiracy to defeat the purposes of the selective draft law.

Among the defendants besides Germer were Rev. John H. H. Brown, Rev. Charles G. Taylor, former member of the local board of education, and a member of the socialist party.

While the respondents are to be tried together, the jury has power to return individual verdicts in their case.

WORLD'S SERIES COMBAT IS PUT OVER FOR A DAY

Downpour in New York Forces Postponement of Third Battle of the Title Games.

ALL GAMES NOW SET AHEAD ONE DAY

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 9.—Rain—a heavy downpour that came out of the northwest, with no promise of cessation—caused a postponement of the third act of the world's series drama between the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox today.

Fifteen thousand spectators of the kind whose courage the two defeats of the National league champions did not diminish braved the stormy day and were a disappointed lot when shortly before 1 o'clock the contest was announced postponed.

Today's delay will give the White Sox star pitcher, Cletie, an added day of rest, but this will also be an advantage to the New York Giants, who are anxious to have Sallee start the third game against the Chicago invaders. Sallee needs a three-days' rest to show to best advantage, and today's postponement gives him the needed time to get into condition.

Postponement of the third world's series game was announced by the national commission at 12:36 p. m.

The games scheduled for today and tomorrow will be played at the Polo grounds tomorrow and Thursday. Friday's game at Chicago will be moved to Saturday, and in case a sixth game will be necessary it will be played at the Polo grounds as originally arranged, on Monday, Oct. 15.

RAIN DAMPENS ARDOR.

Smallest Crowd in Years Was in Line for Tickets.

New York, Oct. 9.—A light drizzling rain was falling at 8 a. m., making weather prospects uncertain for the third game of the world series baseball game between New York and Chicago today. The air was cold and the wind was from the northeast. The weather bureau forecast for the day was fair and colder, but fans became anxious as the rain continued.

The atmosphere was decidedly cold, which was testified unanimously by the shivering fans who stood outside the gates all night. Rain early last night was falling and then ceased, but before 4 o'clock it started again and for a time fell heavily, making the well groomed playing field heavy for the game.

Smallest Crowd in Years.

Police officials and polo ground guards on duty at Brush stadium, said the all night crowd was the smallest that has waited up for a world series game here in years. The first to appear arrived at 6 o'clock last night. He was a little old man more than sixty years old and took his place at the two dollar ticket window in order to hold

CORPSE SAYS, HELLO MOTHER-

Young Man Beats His Supposed Remains Home to Fort Wayne.

WHOSE IS THE BODY
AT UNDERTAKERS?

August Junge Has Signed
is Not His Son.

Bernard Junge, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Junge, Parnell avenue, beat his corpse home from Pokenville, Monday.

While Mrs. Junge tearfully waited for her husband and her son-in-law, Daniel Goeglein, to return home with the remains of her son, Monday noon, the young man walked into the house. "Hello, mother," said the fellow who was supposed to be dead.

Mrs. Junge screamed at the top of her voice. She ran from the house in hysterics. Neighbors hurried to the home, attracted by her frightened cries. It was several minutes before the mother was calmed enough to tell of the cause of her fright.

Investigation by neighbors revealed that Bernard was making himself comfortable in his old home.

Meanwhile the father was accompanying the remains of a young man, killed in a fall from a freight train and supposed to be his son, Bernard, home from Pokenville, a town in Posey county.

The remains of the supposed son arrived in Fort Wayne Monday night and were taken to the Junge home. The father was greatly shocked to find his son at home.

News of Our Neighbors

SHERMAN WAS RIGHT.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 9.—"Doc" McGill, Bluffton's genial medicine salesman, says war is all Sherman said it was, especially if a fellow tries to do business out of the beaten tracks, and where he is not well known. "Doc" was down toward Swayzee the other day, and the people in the neighborhood came to the conclusion he was a German spy and rounded him up, compelling him to eat some of his own pills. As the pills were all right, "Doc" came through the eating experience all right and to the satisfaction of the doubting population.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Relieves Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its quick relief in indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis when caused by acidity has made it famous the world over. Keep this wonderful stomach sweetener in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach it helps to neutralize the excessive acidity, then all the stomach distress caused by it disappears. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming such stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair in good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb, or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT OF OSSIAN IS DEAD

Abram Kreigh, Civil War Veteran, Dies After Several Week's Illness.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Ossian, Ind., Oct. 9.—Abram Kreigh, a well known resident of Ossian and a civil war veteran, passed away Sunday morning about 11 o'clock at the family residence, after an illness of many weeks from cancer. Mr. Kreigh was born August 20, 1841, in Pennsylvania, a son of Joseph and Mary Eve Kreigh. When a child he came to Indiana with his parents. His wife was Miss Martha Archbold, a daughter of John and Elizabeth Archbold, then residents of Adams county, Indiana. To this union were born nine children, all of whom, together with their mother, survive. They are as follows: Elizabeth, widow of Ezra Justis, of Crystal Valley, Mich.; Ezra, of Fort Wayne; John, of Bluffton; Fred, of Michigan; Dallas, of Kansas City, Kan.; Charles, at home; Frank, at home; Forest, Fort Wayne, and Bessie, wife of George Curry, of Ossian. Two brothers, Isaac Kreigh, Ossian, and Henry Kreigh, of Kingsland, also survive. The deceased was a member of the Ossian Presbyterian church and of the local Masonic order. The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Presbyterian church. Rev. Frank K. Baker has charge of the services and burial at Oak Lawn cemetery.

Ossian Short Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sotton and daughter, Sidona, of Fort Wayne, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Cotton.

Mrs. Frank Zehring left Saturday for Monroe, Mich., to spend a few days visiting with her husband, who is employed there.

Nuxated Iron Makes Strong, Vigorous, Iron Men and Beautiful Healthy, Rosy Cheeked Women

Dr. N. H. Hornstine for
of Public Health and Charities of Philadelphia, says:

"The administration of Nuxated Iron in a number of stubborn cases where other tonics had utterly failed only served to convince me absolutely of its remarkable and unusual power. When I personally took it I found the rapidity with which my energy and endurance increased most surprising. The fact that this preparation of iron does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach, makes it especially desirable. In my opinion the widespread use of Nuxated Iron is bound to make a nation of strong men, lovelier women and healthier children."

Dr. James Louis Bevan, for 15 years Adjunct Professor in the New York Homeopathic Medical College, says: "Notwithstanding the fact that I am nearing my 80th birthday, a short course of Nuxated Iron has made me feel like a new man. Friends say, 'What have you been doing to yourself; you look so well and full of life?' In my opinion there is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to put youthful strength and power into the veins of the weak, run down, infirm or aged."

Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago, says: "I am well past my three-score years and want to say that I believe my own great physical activity is due largely today to my personal use of Nuxated Iron, and if my endorsement should induce anyone to use it, I would be greatly pleased."

Get That stuff (Nuxated Iron)
ginger of youth into a man.

ous, run-down men and women to take Nuxated Iron, and receive the wonderful tonic benefits which I have received, I shall feel greatly gratified that I have made an exception to my life-long rule in recommending it. From my own experience with Nuxated Iron, I feel that it is such a valuable remedy that it should be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country.

Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Hornstine and Bevan and Former Health Commissioner Kerr, is for sale by Dr. D. C. Co., Meyer Bros. Drug Store, Geo. F. Miller, The Family Drug Store and all good druggists on an absolute guarantee of success and satisfaction or your money refunded.

LA FOLLETTE'S "TERRORISM."

Senator La Follette declared to the senate last Saturday that the government was resorting to terrorism to compel popular support of the war. He cited that private homes had been invaded and that peaceful citizens had been arrested and thrown into jail.

The "terrorism" to which La Follette alludes is the close watch the government is keeping upon the Scott Nearing and the precious dynamites and firebugs of the I. W. W., upon the hiring spies of Berlin and the unnaturalized journalists who have been preaching sedition through a press that there is very good reason to suppose has financial support from the German government.

That is the "terrorism" to which La Follette makes reference and a very wholesome and much-needed terrorism it is. The trouble to a great extent is that the government has been altogether too easy-going and trustful with the various elements that it now is found are making prosecution of the war more difficult and the task of American soldiers harder. Loyal citizens who stand behind the government and the nation in this war are having nothing to say against the steps taken and the measures employed by the federal authorities to frustrate conspiracies, strangle plots, suppress sedition, throttle treason and circumvent the spies. Even those persons residing in the country who may be untrue to their allegiance here or who have sworn no allegiance and those who in either case cherish sympathy for the enemy have nothing to fear if they deport themselves with good sense and prudence.

It is notorious that the German government has poured millions of money into this country to influence sentiment, to coerce congress, to compass works of destruction and to carry on an elaborate and dangerous system of espionage. It is known that Prussian spies swarm in the country and that by cunning means military information of great value to the enemy has been transmitted from here to Berlin. There are these things and the equally serious embarrassments created by misguided and insane pacifists whose zeal leads them to undertakings that trench closely upon the borderland of treason. With them all the government must deal.

This nation is plunged in a great war. It is fighting for its future security and perhaps for its very life. All things that hinder or obstruct the war, all things that add to our perils and weaken our defense must be put down. Senator La Follette knows all this as well as anybody. He knows that in this free republic no less than in imperial and autocratic Germany the safety of the state is the paramount consideration in war. If there be those who set themselves against the government and endanger the national security and imperil our issue in the war they must take the consequences of their acts.

There is no terrorism of any sort that loyal citizens need fear and none that any other kind of citizens or even alien sojourners need dread if they appreciate the situation and mind their own business. But if La Follette or any others imagine the government with this great national crisis to meet is going to close its eyes to enemy conspiracies and plots to be deaf to sedition, to remain indifferent to treason and to give carte blanche to spies and propagandists to fare forth upon an unmolested course against the safety of this nation and people, they are fools. If they expect it or demand it they are worse than fools.

The grip of the war has not yet fully taken hold of the people of this country. It will not fairly do so until the boys in France are sent in to do the heroic work for which they have gone and are going over there. When the casualty reports have begun to come in the people will not be disposed to leave a great deal for the government to do in dealing with the seditious and treasonable, the enemy spies and plotters whose base work among us they make us require in the blood of our sons.

SOME GROTESQUE BUNK.

Up to this time the principal if not, indeed, the sole reason that has been put forward against the election of Maurice C. Niezer to the mayoralty is that once in office he will abdicate control and authority to outsiders.

If the voters of Fort Wayne can be to any purpose fed on preposterous bunk like that they are in a bad way. We do not believe they are taking that kind of stuff with any seriousness at all. We believe they fully understand and wholly appreciate just how much of an affront such an appeal is to their intelligence, good sense and reason. We believe they will not be caught with chaff of that sort.

To begin with there is no one—outside or inside—who wants to run or would have any interest in trying to run Mr. Niezer's administration. The only factors in this campaign that would or could have such an interest are not supporting Mr. Niezer. They are against him and favoring his opponent with such degree of support as they dare disclose. They are not for the election of Mr. Niezer and will be greatly disappointed in their hope if not in their expectation if he shall be successful. Aside from these there are no elements, personal or otherwise, participating in Mr. Niezer's campaign that have an interest in any other result save that good government shall ensue from it—allowing, of course, to a good many about equally divided between the two parties whose civic aspiration does not get much above the level of a partisan victory. But here we have in Mr. Niezer a candidate whose qualifications and equipment, whose character and fitness are on all sides known to be ideal and by no one denied, who is charged with having as his single shortcoming that if he shall be elected mayor will not be a mayor at all; but a mere figurehead, a puppet, a servile and obedient official serf to a political master.

That's a fine mess of bunk to offer as the serious reason, the dominant issue upon which an important municipal campaign shall be made to turn, is it not? Think it over, ladies and gentlemen of the Fort Wayne electorate. By the time you have come to rational conclusions as to the value of that sort of absurdity as the solitary asset of an opposition campaign, we shall have some propositions ready for the opponent of Mr. Niezer to discuss that we conceive have a vital bearing upon what the next municipal administration is to be like, what its policies are to be in respect of certain important public properties and concerns, what its attitude is to be toward a matter or two that have direct relation to the material comfort and welfare, the present and future of some eighty thousands of people in this community.

Meanwhile, imagine, if you can, a man of Mr. Niezer's affirmative character, innate honesty, sturdy courage, honest dignity, lofty self-respect, high public spirit and seasoned and successful experience as a big man of business getting himself elected to an office that outside its opportunities for public service will give him but poor compensations, and getting himself so elected merely that he may abdicate his responsibility and control.

The voters of Fort Wayne will require solid and proved reasons why such a man as Mr. Niezer should not be elected to the mayoralty when such a man as Mr. Niezer can be persuaded to stand for the mayoralty. They will not be influenced by an opposition campaign so destitute of reason for being at all as that it must resort to grotesque inventions for bare excuse.

THE PREMIER INVESTMENT.

A Liberty Loan bond is one of the few things you can buy wholly insured against any possibility of ever having occasion to regret the investment. Good investments are numerous. Land is one of them and if purchased with respect to prudence is as secure as this whirling old ball can furnish guarantee for anything. But land is not always able to command an immediate purchaser except at sacrifice. Certain industrial stocks and bonds and the usual run-of local public securities are good investments, but have their little drawbacks and handicaps sometimes. But a government bond is to all practical purposes so much interest-paying cash. They are readily convertible if you want to convert them and they are the finest long time investments you can find if permanent investment is what you are looking for. Government bonds of the United States stand today the highest form of security the world knows anything about. If you buy Liberty Loan bonds all anxiety about your money at once ceases. You have it invested. Your investment will not be taxed. Your investment is as secure as the perpetual hills. The government needs your money and you ought to lend it to the government. It is a service that it is to your best material interests to render.

Invest your money in a Liberty Bond and help pay your new war tax.

This is the Naked Truth I sing,
Though red the earth or green—
I am of Those Who Ride Before
That They may stand between!

Oh, you who drowse, and you who dream,
And you who help the least,
I stand with a gun in my hand at a hole,
And shoot at the spike-topped Beast!

II.

Oh, you who shrink, and you who shrink,
And you who sneak to your lands,
I stand knee-deep in Flanders filth,
And beat off the Brute with my hands!

La Follette has made so many political motions that people find it difficult to understand his patriotic emotions—if he has any.

Most of us never know what we want till we find out how hard it is going to be to get it.

Some time we are going to look back on those days of Pan and realize that we were the true patriots.

We are so nonchalant about subscribing many billions of dollars for liberty loans that the Germans ought to be scared stiff by this our favorite American method of showing frightfulness.

THAT MEANS STARVATION

All Together for the Loan

(Christian Science Monitor.)

The United States government is looking to its people for subscribers numbering 10,000,000 and subscriptions amounting to $5,000,000,000, for its second great liberty loan, and it is looking to them with profound confidence. Aside from patriotic reasons, the loan is an attractive one to investors, and it might be taken in a day by the banks, the trust companies, the insurance companies, the great estates and by the general public, but that is not what is wanted. What is wanted is that one-tenth of the population of the country, at least, shall have a share in the subscription, and that this shall be, in the truest sense, a popular loan. In the placing of the first loan, the disposition of the nation to approve the policy of the government in entering the war was greatly underestimated. There had been little display of outward enthusiasm in the country; but inward approval of President Wilson's course expressed itself in an astonishing manner. Far more money was subscribed in answer to the nation's call than the treasury at that time was prepared to accept.

Since then the whole aspect of things has changed. The people on every hand are giving open and generous recognition to the remarkable achievements of the administration in preparing for a proper entrance into the mighty conflict to which it is committed. More than a million and a half of men are under arms. An expeditionary force of no mean strength is close to the front in France. Great cantonments for the reception of the drafted army have been constructed with marvelous rapidity. The naval force has been multiplied. War vessels are being constructed by the score, merchant vessels by the hundred. Within six months the republic has become a military and naval power. It has lent liberal aid to its allies. Its ardor, its enthusiasm, and its efficiency have been inspiring to Great Britain, France and Italy. There is no longer room for doubt in any quarter, friendly or enemy, as to the final outcome of the struggle. The issues have been reduced to two; time and terms. With the resources of the United States to draw upon, the factor of time is with the allies, and, eventually, the terms will be dictated by them.

According to the secretary of the treasury, the resources of the United States "were never so ample for our own use and so formidable for our enemies as they are now." He was speaking to 3,000 delegates to the national convention of the American Bankers' association, at Atlantic City, N. J., last week, when he said this. In his audience were hundreds of men familiar with the details of American finance, and not one of them contradicted him when he said it, or when he said this:

"The combined resources of the national and state banks, including trust companies, are now $27,000,000,000. At the outbreak of the civil war, the combined resources of the banks were estimated to be $1,500,000,000, and yet with these limited banking resources the union government raised $3,000,000,000 by bond sales, or twice the amount of the banking resources of the country. Upon the same basis we should now be able to raise $74,000,000,000 through government loans. I am not suggesting that this may be done. I am only drawing a comparison."

The comparison is interesting in more ways than one. In the civil war, the nation was practically without gold. Its paper money was at a discount. The great west was not developed. The industry of the south was suspended. The population had not been saving. The financial system was largely in the hands of a ring of speculators. With all that, the people took up the bonds offered by the nation, supplied the needs of the war, paid interest, maintained credit, steadily raised the value of their paper currency, and, within a dozen years, had returned to specie payments and a gold basis.

Material prosperity prevails, today, in all sections of the United States. The government has an immense specie reserve. Values are stable. Property is secure. Wages are high. The savings banks have never, in all the past history of the country, been able to make a better showing. The amount of ready money available for investment is practically unlimited. The war taxes and war loans, thus far, have not perceptibly scratched the surface of the national resources. There is no doubt about the success of the new loan. The $5,000,000,000 expected by the government will unquestionably be subscribed.

But it is important that it shall be subscribed quickly, with enthusiasm. Nothing will more certainly destroy the illusion lingering, in Germany, that the United States is not intending to take the full weight into the balance in this contest than the news that, when asked for $3,000,000,000 to carry on the war, the people of the United States, without hesitation, gave $5,000,000,000, and are ready for another call, and for as many others as may be necessary, until the fight is won.

This is an individual matter. It is a case in which every man, woman and child should set for himself or herself. The subscriptions are open. At least 10,000,000 of the American people are expected to become subscribers. One need not wait for another. The things for the patriotic citizen to do is to get into line, at once, and lend his country financial help to the best of his ability.

THE FARMER'S DUTY

BY W. D. HOARD,
Ex-Governor of Wisconsin, and Editor Hoard's Dairyman.

Our liberty has been attacked on sea and on land, our freedom and institutions have been threatened, and our nation placed in jeopardy. Our soldiers are called to arms and are marching to the front; our good women are devoting themselves to Red Cross work, and civilians everywhere are aiding the government in its multiplicity of duties. War means supreme sacrifice to every able-bodied citizen, including men, women and children. It means unselfish and unremitting service.

The tremendous preparation which the government is making to bring this awful war to a successful close means the expenditure of billions of dollars. This money must come from our citizens and from every class, including the labor, shopkeeper, manufacturer, banker, financier and farmer. It borders upon treason for anyone, who can spare a dollar, to withhold it from his country's call.

There are millions of dollars deposited in the banks by the farmers of this country, which are earning them little or nothing. The Liberty Loan bonds offered by our government bear 4 per cent. interest. If patriotic reasons do not make a sufficient appeal for the farmer to invest in them, his selfish interest should move him to render his country financial assistance.

The Liberty Loan bonds are absolutely a safe investment. Every dollar not required for our business should be ready for prompt purchase of these bonds. This is no sacrifice, it is a profitable investment for you. It is helping your country and protecting your home and your business. This is one of the few chances that have come to American citizens to give money, serve both patriotism and profit.

I am particularly anxious that the American farmer should subscribe generously to this second liberty loan. He has responded nobly to the call for increased crops and a hint to him that his money is needed also, will lead, I am sure, to the same unselfish devotion to his nation. The farmer must not neglect this duty. Our country needs his financial assistance, and for his own welfare he should be generous with his wealth. There may be slackers by failing to offer their money, but I vouchsafe the opinion that no man who has a dollar to spare is not a farmer of America.

A SPLENDID AMERICAN.

(Anderson Bulletin.)

Hon. Maurice C. Niezer, the democratic majority nominee at Fort Wayne, is a true blue American, and in clear ringing words so proclaims it. He says:

And I take this occasion to make it plain that in the event of my election the city of Fort Wayne will continue to have a loyal American administration which will take advantage of every proper opportunity to give expression to the overwhelming sentiment of our people in the support of all measures tending to aid in the winning of the war. I have no desire to side step this issue—if issue it is—as charged by the press of other cities and I would not compromise, even by silence, the Americanism which is my birthright and my blessing. For Wayne is a loyal city, its people are loyal and in the event of my election she shall have a loyal administration.

These are the words of a patriot. They are clear-cut and very definite, and the good people of that splendid, prosperous growing city will send and approve them with their votes.

This country has its La Follettes, its Vardamans, Stones, Gronnas, and Pili Thompsons. They discredit the country, but Mr. Niezer stands boldly out in splendid relief against the disloyalists and tells the people where he stands.

He is no pussy-footer—but is courageous in his convictions and so proclaims them. He represents loyalty to the nation, state and his city in this war crisis. He is no trimmer—but an example of the true blue, loyal patriot. He ought to be elected by all the votes in Fort Wayne.

A number of well-known and popular physicians have offices in the Fruit House block. This morning as these physicians were passing in and out of their respective offices they were considerably annoyed at some one calling up the stairway, "quack! quack!" Closer investigation showed that the cries of "quack" came from a duck which was left at the foot of the stairs. Each M. W. laughed and said it was the other fellow who called.

The police think they have a clue which may lead to the arrest of the miscreant who set fire to the Hughes and Bash property, on West Wayne street. On the night of the fire at about the hour of 1 o'clock a policeman ran across the street far from the corner of the fire, who seemed to answer the description of the man who was seen at the window by Mrs. Bash. The fellow was tall and wore a light slouch hat. He carried a short stick and seemed to be in a hurry to get away.

IDENTIFY SUICIDE AS JOHN N. SLATER

Man Who Killed Self is Recognized by Fred H. Shaw.

The identity of the man who committed suicide Sunday morning at a Columbia street rooming house has been established. Fred H. Shaw, residing three miles east of Columbia City has been chiefly instrumental in establishing the man's identity. While reading the newspapers he noticed that the description accurately fitted a man whom he had employed on his farm a short time before. He organized a party and drove to Fort Wayne where he verified his suspicions.

He states that the dead man came to his farm about two years ago, and was given employment. He remained there until the beginning of August when he was forced to leave on account of his heavy drinking. Mr. Shaw said that the man told him that his real name was John Slater and that he had two children, having been divorced from his wife. He also frequently spoke of a married sister residing in Chicago. All efforts are being made to learn the whereabouts of the sister and in the meantime the body will be held at the Getz & Cahill undertaking parlors.

LIBERTY LOAN WORKERS PREPARE TO HIT HARD

Plans for Man to Man Campaign Being Laid Out by Committee.

In the same business like way that Uncle Sam is entering the world argument the Allen county liberty loan workers are getting their forces to hit hard when they smash military autocracy. Clicking typewriters in the liberty loan headquarters and conferences of members of the county executive committee are the only signs that a great offensive will soon be on. "Count on Allen county being ready at the end," said William Schiwer Tuesday morning.

All villages of the county have been billed with the stirring "Help the Liberty Loan" signs. There are few people in Indiana's largest county who have not heard that the mobilization of dollars will soon be on.

Members of the executive committee of the county liberty loan organization will hold a formal meeting on Wednesday evening at the headquarters on East Berry street.

Irresponsibility Doesn't Produce a Successful Wife

BY WINONA WILCOX.

Young women like to consider themselves delightfully irresponsible. For so, they fancy, man likes them best. Helplessness makes a great part of the juvenile charm which it is now the fashion for men to regard as the choicest of feminine assets.

The butterfly ideal of female perfection doubtless works its prenuptial spell as well as any other. But after marriage, if the husband has ordinary business ability, he begins to count on the comforts which are the extra dividends of matrimony.

And too often he can't find any. The butterfly aimlessness which once hypnotized him completely is suddenly revealed to him as plain laziness.

Such indolence is doubly conspicuous since the war speeded up all the industrious persons of both sexes.

At present, there is a war-scarcity of housemaids.

Those to be had demand extraordinary wages. Consequently many wives who were not brought up to work have had to assume the burden of keeping the house clean, cooking three meals a day, and washing up those dreadful dishes after each meal.

They haven't the will to acquire the skill of the just-average hired maid.

Chaos prevails in many a home which was planned to be altogether perfect.

And lots of husbands who were raised in a well-regulated household, are considerably confused, disappointed and irritated.

But the men do not fall down on their jobs as wage-earners.

They continue to bring home an unopened pay envelope. They pay for the groceries, hats and gasoline as their wives expect them to do.

The homes where this tragedy is most often staged are by no means poor.

Often they are ruled over by college graduates, women who know all about interior decoration, who can discuss the chemistry of food, "who can tell the difference between hygiene and sanitation."

But they have never discovered that order, besides being heaven's first law, is the basis of all art.

A littered living room, a mussed dining room and a dirty kitchen make a poor background for a beautiful woman.

Musical Comedy at Majestic Was a Number One Entertainment.

There wasn't a dull moment in the musical comedy, "Very Good Eddie," given at the Majestic theater last night by the Marbury-Comstock company. All the way through it was high class entertainment and more refined fun, singable music and delightful lyrics have seldom been heard. The situations are amusing to begin with and George Mack, Denman Mauley and Florence Earle keep things at high tension. There were some beautiful dancers, Miss Elaine Ford and Ralph O'Brien giving the specialties, and as costumes were fresh and varied and the settings for the two acts were above the ordinary, the comedy was so taking that people sat until 11 o'clock, ready to hear more at the time. The orchestral accompaniment is particularly delightful. The audience was highly pleased and manifested it throughout the performance.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Joseph Berghoff is being entertained frequently by her friends these previous days to her moving to Wisconsin to live as Mr. Berghoff has made a change in business and will locate in Sheboygan. One of the loveliest of parties was given by Mrs. Henry Colerick, who entertained sixteen of Mrs. Berghoff's intimate and old friends. The rooms were gay with garden flowers of the season and the luncheon was of the usual high order of culinary art for which the hostess is justly famed. There are to be several other parties for Mrs. Berghoff this week.

One of the chain parties for Red Cross funds which are resulting from the beginning at the Country club about two weeks ago, was held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Brokaw, with Mrs. Arthur Twining as assistant hostess this afternoon.

Mrs. Florence Dinnen is entertaining her mother, Mrs. J. P. Mullaly, of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Frank Bohn has as her guest, her mother, Mrs. William McKay, who has just returned from Canada.

Miss Frances Ott is to return from Plymouth, and begin teaching at Red Cross headquarters again, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baxter and children, of Germantown, Pa., are guests of Mrs. Baxter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hull.

Miss Marge Becker, of East Jefferson street, comes home on Tuesday evening from a visit in California, where she went last January.

Homer G. Davidson has returned from a four months' stay in Woodstock, N. Y., where he spent time working in the artists' colony.

Mrs. B. J. Heiny and daughters, Agnes and Josephine, of Chattanooga, are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Nicholas Heiny, 422 East Wayne street.

Mrs. J. Charles Bell has returned to her home in Blumhurst, N. Y., after visiting three weeks with her husband who is here on business indefinitely.

Mrs. E. E. Besser, jr., of Chicago, has arrived here to visit for a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Breuer, of Washington boulevard east.

There will be a meeting of the Visiting Nurse league at 8 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Ralph Magee, president of the league, who is visiting her daughter at Camp Taylor, Louisville, is coming home on Wednesday evening and will preside at the meeting.

Misses Marie Elckmeyer, Pauline Huser and Frances Nicol left on Monday for Texas, in Red Cross service. Miss Elckmeyer is going about three hundred miles south of San Antonio, the point where the other two nurses are to stop. All the young women are Lutheran hospital graduates.

Mrs. Eileen Loos entertained twenty-five young girls at her home in West DeWald street, on Thursday evening. The time was spent in knitting and visiting until the refreshment hour when the hostess served delicious and to the point of patriotic colors for decorations. Flowers, flags and table appointments expressed the red, white and blue as much as possible.

Miss Helen Loos sang several numbers, with Miss Eileen accompanying her, and the music was a delightful feature of the evening.

Fort Wayne men stationed with the Rainbow division, at Hempstead and Garden City, L. I., write home with enthusiasm of the kindness they receive from Mrs. R. T. McDonald and Miss Esther McDonald. Both Mrs. McDonald and her daughter are devoting all of their time to the work of Red Cross and to the soldiers, but Indiana boys who make themselves known to them, especially boys from this city, are given particular attention regarding their comfort and needs. Members of Battery D have written home here of the hospitality extended to them by the former Fort Wayne residents, several times, with much appreciation of the generosity and thoughtfulness of the hostesses. One young man wrote: "These ladies break their necks to help us boys along," which was eloquent, even if slangy.

Mrs. Ira Augspurger entertained a small company of young ladies on Monday afternoon in compliment to Miss Martha Vail, a bride-elect of the season. After forming a theater party at the Palace the company went to the Almont store and enjoyed refreshments. Miss Katherine Archer will be a hostess on Wednesday for Miss Vail.

Mrs. Charles Mead gave a beautiful party on Saturday afternoon in honor of their daughter, Dorothy, who was five years old on that day. The guests enjoyed games and refreshments with a fine cake as well as other sweets. The children were Audrey Kern, Ruth Rehm, Marcelle Weimer, Josephine Swartz, Violet Voltz, Harold Morris, Robert Kern, Walter Spandall and Jack Jackson, and from out of town Ralph and Lucille Kern and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kern, of Kendallville.

Mrs. Mead was assisted by Mrs. Anthony Kern, Mrs. Charles Kern and Mrs. Morris.

A Country Party. A surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mart Gallmeier, one mile south of Poe, Oct. 5, in honor of Mary Ostermeier's twenty-first birthday anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ostermeier, Mr. and Mrs. Mart Gallmeier, Otto, Mart, Edwin and Theodore Ostermeier, Charles, Fred and Simon Thieme, Rudolph and August Buick, Conrad and Edwin Gallmeier, Herman and Charles Bultmeier, Rudolph and Lawrence Elckhoff, Herman Scheumann, Arthur Koenemann, Harvey Bucher, William Gehle, Adolph Klefer and Henry Miller and Misses Sophia and Pauline Thieme, Adelinde and Meta Reese, Hannah, Eulalia and Edna Gallmeier, Clara and Emma Klefer, Emelia, Alma and Rosina Elckhoff, Anna Schoumann, Clara Conrad, Minnie Bauermeister and Sophie Koenemann. Mrs. Gallmeier served a delicious luncheon after the time had been enjoyed playing games.

Hamilton School Exhibit.

There will be an exhibition of the Elson art collection at the Hamilton school on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock in the evening. This collection of pictures comprises two hundred subjects and represents all the principal schools of art, showing the best copies of reproductions and displays all periods and all countries. The new gymnasium of the school will be open to the public to visit at the time and pupils will illustrate exercises and use of apparatus. On Wednesday evening fifth and sixth grade pupils will take part, on Thursday the fourth and fifth and on Friday the first seven grades. Refreshments will be sold under the management of the Parent-Teacher association and the public is invited to give attention to the exhibit.

Musical Comedy at Majestic Was a Number One Entertainment.

There wasn't a dull moment in the musical comedy, "Very Good Eddie," given at the Majestic theater last night by the Marbury-Comstock company. All the way through it was high class entertainment and more refined fun, singable music and delightful lyrics have seldom been heard. The situations are amusing to begin with and George Mack, Denman Mauley and Florence Earle keep things at high tension. There were some beautiful dancers, Miss Elaine Ford and Ralph O'Brien giving the specialties, and as costumes were fresh and varied and the settings for the two acts were above the ordinary, the comedy was so taking that people sat until 11 o'clock, ready to hear more at the time. The orchestral accompaniment is particularly delightful. The audience was highly pleased and manifested it throughout the performance.

GIVE POTATO PLACE IN SUN

Potato Dishes for Dinner.

"Are you eating your share of the country's bumper potato crop?" asks the United States department of agriculture in a recent statement. "Now that the tubers are once more plentiful and cheap they may well be given a prominent place on the dinner table," continues the statement.

The department makes the following suggestions in regard to the use of potatoes at dinner:

Potatoes at Dinner. Potatoes may be freely used at dinner, the variety which we all like being secured by varying the ways in which the potatoes are served. Then, too, one should not overlook the fact that, since both of them are foods which are very palatable sources of starch, by eating more potatoes one can diminish the bread eaten and thus help to save wheat, which is such an important matter at the present time.

Many think that potatoes are at their best when prepared in the simplest ways, that is, baked or boiled, but even so some variety is possible, for they may be baked in their jackets or with the skins rubbed or scraped off, or pared and baked in the pan with meat, the juice they absorb improving their flavor. The skins may be easily rubbed off new potatoes, and almost as easily from old potatoes, provided they are first dropped for ten minutes in boiling water.

Potatoes may be boiled or steamed in the jackets, peeled entirely, or with only a ring peeled around the center. The boiled potatoes may be served as they are, or mashed, or rice. Such simple changes as these help to give variety.

Minted Potatoes. Boiled potatoes are at their best when mealy, so, after boiling, the water should be poured off, a little salt sprinkled over the potatoes, and the kettle not quite covered, and placed on the back of the stove, so that they may "dry out."

If you wish a novelty, in boiling new potatoes add a few mint leaves to the water in which they are cooked. In baking potatoes one should always remember that, to be at their best, they should be served as soon as they are done. If one can not serve them at once, the skin on one side should be slashed in order to allow the steam to escape, and the potatoes kept hot in the water until they are ready to be served.

Fried potatoes are also favorites and the ways in which they can be either fried in deep fat or pan fried are numerous and are well known. Fried potatoes seasoned with onion are a common dinner dish, and one should remember that green peppers can be used with the onions or in place of them.

Potatoes With Sauce or Cheese. Potatoes baked with white sauce and cheese, scalloped potatoes and similar dishes can be used in place of macaroni and spaghetti, and potato dumplings can be used in place of wheat dumplings. Cooked in combination with other foods, in a meat pie, for instance, potatoes may be depended upon as the principal dinner dish.

There are also a number of dishes, such as potato pudding, which can be used at dinner in place of sweets made of wheat flour.

Tested Potato Recipes. Of the many possible recipes, the following are suggested as more or less typical:

Potato Soup. 3 potatoes, of medium size; 4 cups skim milk; 1 small onion; 4 tablespoons butter or other fat; 2 tablespoons flour; 1½ teaspoons salt; ¼ teaspoon celery salt, or 1 stalk of celery cut in inch pieces. 1-3 teaspoon chopped parsley. Little cayenne pepper or paprika.

Boil the potatoes and when soft rub them through a sieve. Slice the onion and scald this and the celery with the milk. Take out the onion and celery and add the milk slowly to the potatoes. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or fat, into which mix the dry ingredients, and stir into the boiling soup. Boil one minute; strain, add the remainder of the butter, or fat, and sprinkle with the parsley when ready to serve. The parsley improves the looks and adds a little to the flavor but may be omitted if this is more convenient.

Stuffed Potatoes. A nice way to secure variety is to cut a slice from the top of each baked potato and scrape out the inside. Mash, season with salt, pepper, chopped parsley or chopped celery leaf, or onion juice (if liked) and butter, or savory fat, and heat in a little hot milk; add 2 well-beaten whites of eggs. Refill the skins, sprinkle with grated cheese or bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven about six minutes.

Creamed Potatoes. There are several different ways in which creamed potatoes may be prepared. (1) Freshly boiled or cold boiled potatoes may be cut into small cubes and served heated in cream sauce. (2) Wash, pare and cut potatoes into small cubes. Put into frying pan with a few slices of onion cut up very fine, and parboil 10 minutes. Pour off water. Add one tablespoon butter drippings, or other fat, seasoning of salt and pepper, and milk enough to cover. Cook for 15 or 20 minutes, or until the potatoes are well done and the sauce thick and creamy. It is necessary to stir the potatoes frequently to prevent sticking. The starch in the potatoes thickens the sauce. Creamed potatoes are particularly good to serve with fish or chicken.

Hashed Brown Potatoes. Cut cold boiled potatoes into small pieces (2 cupfuls), season with salt and pepper, cook three minutes in one-third cup bacon drippings, stirring constantly. Let stand a few seconds to brown underneath; fold like an omelet, and serve on a hot platter.

These are very good with broiled or fried fish or meat.

Meat and Potato Pie With Potato Crust. Boil meat, cut into small pieces. Mix with potatoes separately boiled and cut up, and put into a baking dish. Make a crust by mixing smoothly mashed potatoes to which a tablespoonful of shortening has been added, with enough flour and water to make them roll out easily. A pie made of a pound of meat will require five or six small boiled potatoes, a cupful of mashed potatoes and eight or ten tablespoonfuls of flour, and should be baked about twenty minutes in a hot oven. Salt, pepper and other seasonings, as onion and carrot, may be added to taste. A teaspoonful of baking powder makes the crust lighter.

Potato Pudding. ½ lb. mashed potatoes (5 small potatoes). 4 tablespoonfuls butter or good cooking fat. 2 eggs. ¼ cup milk. ¼ teaspoon salt. ¼ lemon (juice and rind). 1 tablespoonful sugar. ¼ cup raisins or raisins and nut meal.

Boil potatoes, mash and add butter, eggs, milk, lemon juice, grated peel and sugar. Beat all the ingredients together and bake in a buttered dish for three-quarters of an hour or longer.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Try This! Your Hair Appears
and Beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow strong and beautiful.—Advertisement.

SCHOOLS PREPARED TO BAFFLE FLAMES

Fire Drill Shows Children
Gain Safety in Less
Than a Minute.

Principals of all city schools are giving talks in every grade room on the subject of fire prevention Tuesday in honor of Fire Prevention day in Indiana. City firemen are inspecting public buildings.

Children of the city should feel a greater degree of apprehension about the safety of their parents so far as the ravages of flames are concerned than parents need undergo experience about the boys and girls in the city schools.

Pupils in the classrooms are safeguarded by fireproof buildings in which there are no trash filled attics, and besides the children have demonstrated during the past few days that they can leave their seats in the school buildings and be at safety on the streets in about a minute.

Capt. J. F. Huber, of No. 8 engine house, and Capt. P. Roth, of No. 2 station, are in charge of the fire drill exercises in all schools of Fort Wayne.
The two men visited nearly all the grade schools during the last three days of last week and at each building they sounded the fire alarm.

Teachers and pupils were unprepared for the alarm bell. There was no confusion in any school. The boys and girls fled out upon the street in remarkably fast time. The record for the grade schools, giving the number of pupils and the time required to gain safety after the alarm sounded follows:

School	Enrollment	Time
Hoagland	450	1:05
Hanna	500	1:10
Hamilton	550	1:20
Miner	517	1:00
James H. Smart	675	1:00
South Wayne	306	1:10
Clay	425	1:25
St. Mary's	450	:50
St. Peter's	676	1:00
St. Catherine's	629	1:10
Zion	350	:40
St. Paul's	305	:50

Delay which caused several of the schools to take longer than a minute in marching the pupils to safety was due to the fact that there are many little tots who have never heard the sharp clang of the alarm bell before.
Now and then there was a little boy who wanted his hat before he left the building. Some little girls cared more for their new books than their safety.

Every second of delay counted up as Captain Huber stood with his stop-watch in hand. Teachers in each school are trying to perfect the fire drill system so that every school can be emptied in less than a minute.

Have you lost your Make-Believe?

Come on—let's go!

We'll see a picture-play—and a good one.

We don't even know the title of it—we don't happen to care this time.

We do know a theatre that advertises under the Paramount and Artcraft trademarks—and we know that means "famous stars superbly directed, in clean motion pictures."

Paramount and Artcraft Pictures

"FAMOUS STARS, SUPERBLY DIRECTED, IN CLEAN MOTION PICTURES"

What an illusive thing it is you are paying for and giving your time to! Phantoms dissolving to nothing at all when the light snaps off.

Is it? It's nature, sunshine, laughter, love, life!
What do you really see as you sit there in your chair unconscious of others in their other chairs all round you?

Not the illuminated screen, not the beam of brilliance from the camera up above —no, not the moving lights and shadows of the photograph itself—not the picture at all, but the story the picture tells.

You live it.
For that one hour or two you live a different soul—likely in a different land, quite possibly a thousand years ago. Maybe you half realize after a while that your tongue is dry. Sometimes your eyes grow moist—with sympathy or mirth, no matter. You don't know it. You've lost yourself—and good riddance for a bit.

You are living the romance that makes this work-a-day world well worth while after all. You are adventuring, struggling, over-coming, avenging, forgiving, laughing, hating, loving.

And when the story ends, you walk out into the blazing real world—but you are for quite a while a good deal younger and a sight more human!

That's you, isn't it? There are fifteen million others just like you in that one thing.
But there are twenty million others who are missing it, and this message is not to you at all, but to them.

Of course you want to see Paramount and Artcraft pictures—the best the motion picture art affords.
Paramount pictures give you the motion picture in all its varied forms—great feature plays, and stars, master comedies, weekly magazines and travel pictures. Artcraft pictures give you the feature play developed to its apex—famous stars of screen and stage in pictures worthy of their talents.

If it happens that the theatre around the corner has not yet gotten around to showing Paramount and Artcraft pictures—it will, if you ask for them. Because the motion pictures bearing those famous trademarks —Paramount and Artcraft—are now available for every good motion picture theatre in the land. They are produced for you—see them

Three ways to know where to be sure of seeing Paramount and Artcraft motion pictures.

1 By seeing these trademarks in the newspaper advertisements of your local theatres.

2 By seeing the same trademarks
on the front of the

3 By seeing them

TRAVEL OF EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN HARD

Usual Lanes Barred by Long Lines of Steel Nets to Catch U-Boats.

Corfu, Oct. 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Travel in the eastern Mediterranean during these war days is no easy matter, for the usual routes of travel are now barred by long lines of steel nets, set to catch submarines, but at the same time establishing a vast labyrinth of danger and obstruction for any sort of travel. The nets stretch clear across the main channels, from island to island, and from the shore islands to the mainland, sometimes ten and fifteen miles away. Through these nets the privileged steamer—for all the regular lines are abandoned—must pick its way, during the brief interval that an opening is made daily to permit the passage of friendly shipping.

Seen from the deck of the steamer, these torpedo nets stretch away for miles. The visible part above water consists of steel cylinders, about 12 feet long and 3 feet in diameter, like a good-sized log. These are chained to the bottom about 20 feet apart, and at intervals 100 feet a large anchored buoy holds the chain in an unbroken line. Thus the chain runs for miles—cylinders and buoys—with the meshes of the steel net hanging under water from the chain, and at intervals just as fishermen make their hauls of herring.

One gets occasional glimpses of this under-water net, as it comes to the surface on the station ships. These are small trawlers, or steam fish launches, every mile or two apart, and two of them are at either side of the narrow passage admitting friendly ships. It is their business to raise the net at stated intervals, and to look over the papers of the ships that pass.

As we moved through the passage the steel net was plainly visible drawn up on the station ship. It looked to be about 12 to 15 feet across. The strands of steel wire were very heavy—about one-eighth inch—and the mesh rather open, as a submarine is such large game that a fine net is not needed to take it. It was seen, too, that each of the station ships had its own armor of steel nets. Long iron rods extended from the upper decks, from which hung the nets, making a curtain of steel entirely circling each boat, thus protecting it from attack while it remained in charge of the nets. Each ship, too, it was noted, had a rapid-fire gun mounted fore and aft.

One line of these nets stretched from the upper end of the island of Corfu over to the mainland of Albania. It seemed endless, and its further reaches were lost in the distance. Another line swung around the harbor of Corfu, where the allied warships are gathered, and the government of Serbia is located since it was driven from home. Further south a third line of these nets extend from the southernmost point of the island over to the mainland. Back of the nets could be seen the huge warships and the floating fortresses constructed on the heights by the Venetians. It seemed strange that strands of steel wire could protect such fortresses and monster ships, and it indicated to what an extent were entanglement—on land and water—has taken its place for the first time in this war.

An insect measuring two and a quarter inches can draw a little waquette of tin weighing nearly one and three-quarter pounds. In creasing the weight by one-half, the insect can continue to drag its load a few more inches. In other words, it can drag forty-five times its own weight.

KENDALLVILLE TO HAVE LABOR UNION

Meeting Has Been Called for Tuesday Evening—Fort Wayne Men to Help.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Kendallville, Ind., Oct. 9.—A mass meeting will be held Tuesday evening in the Michaelis building on East William street, when steps will be taken toward organizing a labor union in this city. Addresses will be given by labor organizers from the American Federation of Labor of Fort Wayne.

WOMAN SOLDIER MAY ASTOUND US; NOTHING NEW IN RUSSIA

Russian Women Do Everything Men Were Wont to Do—Fire Locomotives, Build Houses and Enter Army to Fight in Husband's Places, Totally Oblivious of Sex.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.

Here in the United States many persons were greatly astonished when they read that the "Battalion of Death," a regiment of women, had actually gone to the Russian front, drilled and trained to fight in the trenches like men.

We need not have been astonished. There was nothing very novel about it. Russian women had been fighting in the army ever since the war began.

When I was on my way from Vladivostok to Petrograd the subject was introduced convincingly to my attention by the vision of an armed woman soldier patrolling the platform of a station at which we had stopped one morning.

She wore the regular uniform of the Russian army, with the number of her regiment done in yellow on a red band at her shoulder, and very likely I should have noticed it were it not that it hadn't been for her hair. This was done up in a big yellow twist, like a section of a hawser, at the back of her neck directly under her cap. It must have been a rather remarkable mane she had, judging from the size of the roll it made.

The woman that enlisted in the "Battalion of Death" had their hair clipped close to their heads. This woman and other I saw afterward in the ranks still held to their long locks.

She marched up and down the platform exactly like the man soldier patrolling the other end, and was utterly indifferent to any staring attention she might receive from passing trains. It was evident she was used to the service and its duties.

I asked a Russian officer with us on the train about this woman and he said it was a commonplace sight. He said there were hundreds of women serving in the Russian ranks as regular soldiers. They had offered themselves for enlistment, making no attempt to disguise their sex, and the government had willingly taken them. Without exception they made good soldiers and many of them had been decorated for acts of conspicuous courage.

I asked him what induced them to enlist. "Apparently," he said, "it is because they want to fight. They seem to be interested in the war and want to take part in it. I suppose with some it is sheer love of adventure, but with the most it is patriotic impulse. Some have lost their husbands in the war and enlist to take their husband's places. Some, I think, are aroused by the falsehood that Russia is to stop fighting and want to show that the old Russian spirit is not dead. That was what brought out the 'Battalion of Death' you know."

"Yes, they are trained exactly like the men, go through the same course of instruction and have the same duties to do in the field. No distinction is made. In fact, when they go into the army they drop every consideration of their sex. As a rule they are serious-minded persons. There is no skittish about their performance. They are in the army to fight."

I asked him what class they came from. He said they were mostly peasant women, but there were women of all classes in the army.

He said the only weakness the woman soldier developed was usually about her feet. She could not stand the long marches so well as men. Otherwise she was a good marcher, fought, drilled and handled machine guns as well as any of them. There were authentic cases, he said, where women had clung to dangerous positions after men had retreated, and he told me the story of one woman soldier who, finding all her company officers had been killed, assumed the command, rushed the company forward and took a trench.

This, I found afterward, was an incident in the life of the woman that commands the "Battalion of Death." The Russian woman has often found more to do in this war than to sit at home and knit socks. Of course, she is now the conductor on all the street cars of Petrograd, Moscow and other cities. This is not so remarkable, because women are doing such work in other belligerent countries of Europe. In Russia she is working in the factories, laying outcrops in the streets, building railroads, becoming a carpenter and machinist, and learning other unusual trades.

At the town of Zima, in Siberia, a switch engine on an adjoining track came down past as we were in the dining car for luncheon and revealed the fact that the firing person on it was a woman.

She was dressed in greasy overalls and wore an old black cap above her hair, which, as in the case of the woman soldier, was done up in some kind of a knot at the nape of her neck. She handled the coal shovel with neatness and dispatch; also, I judge with skill, for we were at that station about an hour, the engine kept steadily at its switching job and she furnished all the firing. When she wasn't handling the shovel she was sitting on the seat at the fireman's side of the machine and contemplating the world with that air of professional unconcern that the experienced railroad man always has; so I gathered she was no new hand. In fact, I know she wasn't because no one around the station paid any attention to her. Afterward we found that she was not the only woman firing person, and no one in Russia now was astonished to see a woman engaged in any kind of work that men could do. I believe there are still those in the United States who are enough asleep to parrot the old talk about woman's place being the home. They should take a few trips through the warring countries and see.

"Two Ranges in One"

A single coal and wood range is wasteful, except for winter use. A single gas range is wasteful, except for summer use. To combine the two is ideal, and meets the demand of the twentieth century for "Comfort," "Convenience," "Economy"—all the year 'round.

The Duplex Alcazar is a single range, only forty-three inches long, in which gas and coal or wood can be used at the same time, or separately, just as desired. It is just the range for your home.

There is nothing to lift out or interchange. Simply "pull or push a lever" at lower right hand side of range and oven is ready for use for either fuel. It is as easy as turning on or off the water faucet in a kitchen sink.

It is a range that is complete in itself and provides real "Convenience." It is not a make-shift with dirty parts to pull out and leave standing around the kitchen. Such ranges are nuisances, and add worry to the troubles of neat housekeepers and the practical housekeeper will not put up with it. She does not want to be a mechanic. Her aim is to lighten—not to complicate her kitchen work. She is seeking the happiness of her home and to that end the Duplex Alcazar is in a class of its own. It constantly grows in favor, as the Twentieth Century Housewife comes to know the necessity of reserving her strength through "Comfort" and "Convenience" and the wisdom of practical "Economy."

CAMP TAYLOR FOR NIEZER

He is Elected Mayor of Fort Wayne Over Cutshall on Straw Vote.

MONDAY WAS BOYS'

FIRST PAY DAY

Third Increment from Allen County Arrived on Friday Evening.

BY E. F. F.

(Staff Correspondent.)

Camp Taylor, Ky., Oct. 9.—Maurice Niezer, candidate on the democratic ticket, was elected mayor of Fort Wayne by the Fort Wayne young men in training at Camp Taylor, Ky.

He was elected to office on a straw vote by the majority of two votes. The election aroused the same kind of enthusiasm and excitement that is characteristic of any city election.

The final vote was: Niezer, 67; Cutshall, 65; Dody, 11. Niezer won out by the vote of the 66th company, composed of men from the Third district. Cutshall carried the 65th and 67th companies. The two latter companies are men from the First and Second districts in Fort Wayne.

Welcome Bugle Call.

Monday morning shortly after breakfast Fort Wayne boys heard the most welcome bugle call that they have heard since arriving at this training camp. The bugle had sounded but a few notes when there was a hurried scamper toward the company barracks where the men formed in order and awaited the paymaster.

It was the first pay day in the army for nearly all the men and although the wages received were far below what all the men had been accustomed to, all were of the opinion that they were rich men.

Third Increment Arrives. The third increment of national army men arrived at this camp in good style Friday evening. The Third and Second district men with the Adams and Jay county delegation arrived at 7 o'clock at the battalion headquarters while the First district men arrived at 9 o'clock.

Everything was in readiness for them and a hot supper awaited them at the barracks to which they were assigned. All the men were vaccinated and inoculated Saturday.

Examinations were conducted at the same time and several of the men were certified by the examining physicians to the reviewing board for re-examination. This board will make announcement as to the outcome of the examination within a few days.

Visitors From Fort Wayne. During the past week several Fort Wayne people have visited the camp. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Gust Klein, Mr. and Mrs. George Harris, Dr. J. Frank Dinnen, Dr. Ladd and Rudolph Reinwald. The two latter men accompanied the last increment of men to this camp. Mr. Reinwald's son was a member of the twenty per cent. which arrived here Friday evening.

The Army Menu.

The men in training at this camp have no complaint to make about the food and the amount which they are receiving at each meal. An idea as to the food that the boys are eating can be ascertained from the following menu:

Supper Saturday evening—
Boiled Beef. Boiled Rice.
Boiled Potatoes.
Sewed Peaches. Bread.
Hot Coffee.

Breakfast Sunday morning—
Mush and Milk.
Fried Potatoes. Stewed Apples.
Hot Coffee.

Dinner Sunday noon—
Roast Beef.
Mashed Potatoes. Brown Gravy.
Peach Cobbler.
Bread. Ice Water.

Furnaces have been installed in all the Fort Wayne barracks and good use were made of them Sunday. Fire was started in all of them. Fort Wayne men stated that they like Fort Wayne weather much better than the weather here. None of them complain because a good soldier never complains and it is still contended that the 17th battalion composed of nearly all Fort Wayne boys is the best drilled in the camp. There will be more promotions within the near future, it is believed.

Football Practice. Football practice is being held every day. The sixty-sixth company will soon be able to place a strong lineup in the field. A battalion team is being formed and they will go out with the intention of cleaning up all opponents.

There were many disappointed sport followers in camp Sunday because they were all thinking of the great football game that was being played at Fort Wayne.

According to orders from the brigadier general's office here at Camp Taylor, the men get an hour's playtime each morning and each afternoon. However, all men must participate in the play. Baseball games, football, leap frog, indoor baseball and jumping and running are some of the games that are being played.

LATEST BRITISH ADVANCE ON WEST FRONT

Most of the points indicated along the line of the new drive are well over the series of heights running north and south to the east of Ypres. The effect of this extension of the great British wedge into the enemy lines is to increase greatly the pressure upon the German positions to the northwest. The most severe fighting yesterday was around Zonnebeke, apparently, where the allied lines now are closest to the railway connecting Ostend, Zeebrugge and other points that they practically will dominate the Flanders plains to the east. The lines give an approximate idea of the development of the battle of Ypres. Northeast of the Gravenstafel Ridge runs the rail line that feeds the main German submarine bases on the coast.

TURN BACK ON OCT. 12

Shop Men Are Tired of Garden Time and Ask for Change.

MAY NOT WAIT UNTIL NOV. 12

Council Expected to Pass Ordinance at Session Tuesday Night.

The hands of Fort Wayne clocks may be turned back an hour on next Friday, October 12, instead of November 12, as was originally planned. A petition asking that the central standard time be adopted before the week end will be presented to the city council Tuesday night.

The council may pass an ordinance for the immediate change of time, under suspension of rules, on Tuesday night.

Shop men and a number of factory workers are promoting the movement to do away with the eastern standard time at once. They have called upon council members individually. The majority of the councilmen have said that they favored the changing at an early date, it is said.

"Why keep early time for the benefit of war gardens when the gardens are all gone?" is the leading question being asked by shop men, who state that they have long been dissatisfied with the "hour ahead" scheme.

Delinquency of Aurora in plucking at the curtains of the night these frosty mornings and the presence of stars and ley mists at 7 o'clock are October elements, which have caused many clerks, factory workers and others to join with the shop men in the appeal for prompt action in shifting of time back to the schedule of "before the war."

"We are not prepared to say that the plan has ever been a success so far," said a councilman Tuesday in discussing the proposed hurrying up of the changing of time. "There has been a great deal of confusion due to the fact that there were two time schedules in Fort Wayne. It has been especially trying for visitors in the city."

Whether the eastern time will be re-adopted next spring, the council members decline to discuss and the matter will not be acted upon by the council Tuesday night. It will be one of the time problems which time itself must solve.

Some debate upon the proposed time change will be waged in the council session, although the measure is expected to be passed. There will be several citizens before the council to talk about the merits and demerits of the fast time scheme.

Mayor W. J. Hovey is expected to sign the ordinance for turning back the time piece, if the council passes such a measure Tuesday evening.

"There does not seem to be a great movement for holding on to the eastern schedule," says the mayor.

RAISE FOR STATION MEN OF WATER WORKS

Firemen and Engineers Are to Receive $5 More on the Month.

The city council is expected to ratify the board of works recommendations that an increase of $5 per month be given firemen and engineers at the waterworks pumping stations. No other raise in wages of city employees will be recommended at this time.

Action of raising the pay of waterworks firemen from $65 a month to $70 a month and that of engineers from $80 to $85 was decided upon after a lengthy meeting of board of works members and the finance committee of the council Monday night.

STILL WANT TO SIGN.

Several Citizens Applied at Registration Office Tuesday.

There were many raps at the closed doors of the registration office, in the city hall, Tuesday morning. A number of men sought to register for the ballot several hours after the time allowed for signing for the city vote had passed. They were turned away by the registration officers.

Reports from the election office states that the registration is more than 3,000 votes short of the full quota of the city. The majority of the citizens who will lose their franchise right are women, say election clerks. It is estimated that approximately 27,000 have registered.

Tuesday was spent in completing the filling out of registration blanks and in preparing the registrations for filing.

CITY FACES COAL FAMINE

Dealers Name Committee to Co-Operate With Commercial Club.

FACTORIES MAY HAVE TO CLOSE

Unless Relief Comes Soon—Appeal to Be Made to Director Garfield.

Fort Wayne coal dealers are confronted with a most serious problem which, unless there is relief soon, promises to result in a coal famine in Fort Wayne.

Several factories will have to close down unless coal is received soon. Their supply is about exhausted and while both factories and coal dealers have plenty of it ordered, mine operators are refusing to ship it.

A meeting of the dealers of the city was held Monday evening, at which time a committee was appointed composed of Charles Moslering, Eugene Olds and Frank Kroeff, to co-operate with a similar committee appointed by the Commercial club in an effort to secure coal shipments at once. An appeal will be made directly to Director Garfield, at Washington, D. C. Beyond doubt the coal situation in Fort Wayne is the most serious it has been in many years and with a cold winter ahead the outlook is not at all promising. One dealer at Monday night's meeting who by comparison had more coal on hand than any of the other dealers in attendance, stated that his supply would not last longer than six days at the rate it was now going. Two or three dealers expected their entire supply to be exhausted by noon, Tuesday. Others predicted that their supply would be gone within three or four days.

Dealers who have no contract with the mine operators at the time the new government prices were put into effect are hit the hardest. Those having contracts are able to get coal at the contract price, which is considerably more than the government price. Those with no contracts cannot buy coal for the reason that the operators are refusing to sell at government prices or rather are refusing to ship it, which is virtually the same thing, and will not agree to sell at prices above the government prices. It seems to be no violation of the law to complete the contracts already in force at the prices prevailing at the time the government prices went into effect.

ure will be placed before the council at its next meeting.

Planting Bushes. Park workmen are engaged in planting row upon row of bushes and shrubbery in Stieling park, the new city tract at the east of the city.

GREAT INTEREST IN INDIANA'S BIG GAME

I. U. Eleven to Meet the Ohio Champs of West November 3.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Interest in the football game to be played by Indiana university and Ohio state university at Washington park in this city on Nov. 3 already has reached such a high stage as to assure of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a gridiron contest in Indiana. The showing that Indiana university made at the Indianapolis game last year against the famous eleven from Tufts college gave the state school a wider following among football enthusiasts and the fact that Indiana is to meet the big nine champions of 1916 from the Ohio school this year is causing the followers of the gridiron from all parts of the state to sit up and take notice.

Especially is the interest in the game strong because it is conceded generally that Indiana has one of the strongest eleven this year that has ever represented a school from this state. The showing made in the first game of the season against Franklin college assures the supporters of the team and crimson that no team will be able to give Indiana this season without realizing that it has had a hard fight.

Indiana defeated Franklin 50 to 0 in the first game of the season and only elementary football tactics were used in gaining the victory. After the early weeks of the season Coach Steinhilber will have developed many new plays and his well known football strategy is expected to play an important part in Indiana's string of victories.

Seats for the Indiana-Ohio game which were placed on sale at the Indiana university alumni headquarters, 1016 Merchants bank building, the first of the month, are in great demand, many orders having been received from all parts of the state.

SCHALK

FABER GIVES EXPLANATION OF HIS BOOB PLAY SUNDAY.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Urban Faber, late of Cascade, Iowa, Chicago American league pitcher, and a base running strategist of sorts, left behind with his friends Sunday night an explanation of his attempt to steal third base Sunday at a moment when Weaver was exercising squatter sovereignty in that precise spot.

"When I hit and reached second on the throw to the plate," Faber is quoted as explaining, "I saw Weaver rounding third as I pulled up and thought he had scored. Perritt took a slow windup and I lit out for third. That's how it happened."

RICH MEN RACE THEIR OWN NAGS AT LEXINGTON

Dinner Stake for Field of Three-Year-Olds the Day's Feature.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—The Dinner stake for three-year-olds is the chief attraction on the program of the Grand circuit meeting here today. It is for $5,000, $1,000 for each entry, being put up by the Breeders' Sweepstakes club, composed of thirteen wealthy men who breed and race their own horses. Each horse was bred by the man who entered him. The eligibles in the stake are Miss Bertha Dillon, Harvest Gale, Tacita, Daddy S and Braburn. Miss Bertha was a heavy favorite in the early betting.

Another stake race on the card is the Cumberland for pacers eligible to the 2:05 class on June 1. The entries in this event include some of the fastest pacers staged at the local track, among them being Little Frank D., winner of a race last week; Braden Direct, The Savor, Auto Zombro, Thomas Earl, Peter Look and the fast but unreliable Peter Pointer.

NOTRE DAME GATHERS SPEED FOR WISCONSIN

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 9.—Coach Harper was exceedingly well pleased with the showing his Notre Dame warriors made against Kalamazoo on Saturday. Eight touchdowns prove the strength of the backfield, and of the line, which, led by the giant Rydzewski, plowed great holes in the enemy's defense. The ends held so well that Kalamazoo was unable to gain a single first down, except by Notre Dame penalties.

Bahan, playing his first game for Notre Dame, was one of the stars. In the third he squirmed through a bunch of tacklers and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. DeGree's kickoffs went high and far, giving the ends plenty of time to get down the field. Rydzewski kicked seven goals in eight attempts. Notre Dame's showing against Kalamazoo was most encouraging. Harper's men will face Wisconsin with confidence and determination.

WORK IS STARTED ON RATION HEATERS

They Are Made of Newspapers Rolled and Soaked in Paraffin.

The school children of Fort Wayne will soon be started in the work of making trench-torches for soldiers. These torches have an extensive use in the trench, both for light and heat. They are made from a rolled newspaper which is soaked in paraffin. All that is required is to turn over to the local chapter of the Red Cross and it will be placed in the soldier's comfort kit.

The Mishawaka quota of knitted garments was received Monday at the Red Cross warehouse of the north Indiana district, North Calhoun street. This shipment consisted of one hundred and fifty sets of sweaters, scarfs, socks and wristlets. A large supply was also received from the Fort Wayne chapter.

Starting Tuesday Miss Mary Dorn will conduct classes in intensive surgical dressing at the Red Cross warehouse, North Calhoun street. She has had great success in this work, having received her training at Washington, and a large number should avail themselves of this opportunity to learn the art of surgical dressing.

A number of speaking arrangements have been made by the ladies of the Red Cross. Wednesday, Mrs. A. L. Johns will talk to the Women's society of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church and at the same time Mrs. Harding will speak at the meeting of the Trinity Episcopal church guild. Mrs. H. O. Bruggeman will speak Friday at the Parent-Teachers' club of the James H. Smart school.

Monday, Mrs. Fred E. Hoffman donated seven large tables and the horses to hold them, for use in the children's garment department of the Red Cross. Mrs. E. E. Keller has charge of this department for making garments for the refugees in France.

At the time of the Spanish conquest, an ivory grain, finer than mustard seed, was made into paste for molding into religious idols and was an important food in those times of scarcity of maize. This grain, known to the Aztecs as "huauhtli," was among the tributes paid by the pueblos to Montezuma. The botanical identity of the seed was long unknown, but the collections of Dr. Edward Palmer in the states of Sinaloa and Jalisco included fish-egg-like seeds of an amaranthus. The plant was found both wild and under cultivation, a paste of the seed and sugar being sold under the name of "suale." Dr. W. E. Safford, of the department of agriculture, has recognized in these specimens the sacred "huauhtli" of Montezuma's time, and suggests that this amaranthus might be cultivated in favorable situations. Closely allied plants are cultivated in India, Tibet, South America and Africa as grain crops.

Downing street, a name now synonymous with the English government, was named for Sir George Downing, who was not an American, but who came with his parents to America in his infancy. He graduated from Harvard in 1642, second in his class. Downing was a son of a Puritan barrister and his mother was sister to Governor Winthrop, of the Massachusetts colony.

You have admired the newspaper pictures of West Brook View. Why not take a little time and see the real landscapes? They're as close to the court house as Swinney park.

An apparatus which steers a vessel by pumping jets of water from either side of its stern has been invented by an Englishman.

Tubers Show That Leaves Make Valuable Fertilizer.

Ten bushels of large potatoes offer eloquent argument in favor of the theory that fallen leaves make excellent fertilizer. The tubers were grown in the arroyo back of the city barn at the foot of North Clinton street. They flourished in a soil made up of street sweepings and decayed leaves.

Street Superintendent Herman Strodel dug the potatoes on Monday. He has spent but a few hours during the summer in weeding out the weeds and a crop. The truck patch in the ash heaps and piles of leaves was only an experiment.

Smallpox Drive Is Repulsed by Health Board.

No new cases of smallpox were reported to the health board on Tuesday. The quarantine of smallpox victims has halted the offensive of the disease, health officers say they are certain. A close watch is being kept on all homes where the yellow card appears. There were few vaccinations on Tuesday.

New cases of contagion reported Monday afternoon were: Bernard Alton, 2, 412 West Craigton avenue, scarlet fever, and Herbert Wunderlin, 12, 442 East Jefferson street, ammalox.

JAENICKE FAMILY HERE.

Wife and Three Daughters Arrive From Colorado Springs.

Adolph Jaenicke, the new park superintendent, was a busy man Tuesday in looking after the housing of his family, who came to Fort Wayne from Colorado Springs, Col. Monday night. The wife and three daughters have come from the western city to make their permanent home here.

The Jaenicke family will live at 1001 Edgewater avenue.

Came From New Haven. People living as far away from the city as New Haven have applied to Adolph Jaenicke, park superintendent, for flowers from the beds in the city parks. On Sunday and Monday there were many rural folk who drove to the city in quest of the posies which were removed from parks and given to people who will keep them over the winter. The stock of free plants has now been depleted. Several thousand plants were disposed of by the park board and much to the gratification of lovers of flowers.

You will never have such a splendid opportunity to secure "close-in" home property at such prices and on such terms as in West Brook View RIGHT NOW. Reserve your lot today.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and all dandruff disappears. Advertisement.

WILL HOLD MEETING IN THE EIGHTH WARD

Democrats are planning to tell the voters of the Eighth ward just why it is desirable to have a democratic election. A meeting has been called for Thursday night at the Olive club rooms, on Maumee avenue, and a considerable number of speakers have been invited to explain the campaign issues. Among those who will propound the democratic views are Maurice C. Neizer, candidate for mayor, and Harry Hilgemann.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste. Else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink. Advertisement.

SPRANG TO AID OF AN AGED BARTENDER

Frank Berry Thereby Gets
Wish of Appearing Before Judge Kerr.

Frank Berry, 37, got his wish. He has told Judge H. W. Kerr several times that he would like to be haled before the Barr street magistrate before Judge Kerr leaves the bench.

Berry was in the position he has so long desired, Tuesday morning, but like all successful conquerors he did not seem gratified by his fortune. His object in attracting police attention Monday night was not to hire a lawyer and sit in the prisoner's row, he admitted.

An aged bartender in the saloon at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets was the cause of Berry's misadventure. The fighting forces of the drink dispenser in the saloon in question, have dwindled with the passing years. He is no longer ready to "mix it" when the proper occasion affords. He announced that fact to a couple of young men in the saloon Monday night.

When the fellows kept seeking an engagement it was for Frank Berry to ally himself with the cause of the weak. He delivered an ultimatum to the two young men. There was no mincing of terms in the forecasted message. There was sulphur and shouting.

So police entered and arrested Berry. Tuesday morning he pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge. As he has not been in court for twelve years he was allowed to go his way.

He Showed Her. Joseph Ganes, colored, believes in calling bluffs. When Queenie Ganes, also colored, drew a knife on him and called him names Saturday night he proceeded to "show her who he is." He ended the misunderstanding in a hurry. "I showed her who I was," Ganes told Judge Kerr.

Queenie stated that the big negro hit her in the eye and otherwise disabled her fighting properties. Ganes was fined $1 and costs.

Bound to Higher Court. Floyd Bellmer, 25, was bound to circuit court, under $500 bond, on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of having a part in the stealing of the automobile of Delbert Thompson several weeks ago. Bellmer denies any part in the theft but admits being with the men who removed the machine.

Under Advisement. Benard Ascher proclaimed that he did not know that the draft furnished by an agent of a flying machine company was fraudulent when Ascher helped to pass the document. He is held under $300 bond while Judge Kerr takes the case under advisement until Wednesday.

Just Carelessness. Wesley Bryant, of Hicksville, Ohio, was careless in his dressing Monday morning. He took no note of his appearance when he left the hotel, in which he had remained over night. Bryant insists that he was quietly watching the herculean efforts of a giant steam shovel when police arrested him.

Bryant was charged with indecent exposure of person. Two school girls testified against the man. He was fined $50 and costs.

Other Police Court Cases. Bessie Turner and Lula Fountain, two colored girls, were fined $5 and costs each on a charge of public intoxication. Thome Brennan was fined $10 and costs on a like charge because he lingered about the Pennsylvania railroad station.

Other intoxication cases were: Frank Miller, fined $1 and costs; Dempsey Fox, $1, and Gerlie Gustie, $1. John Kenny was released.

Fred Sheldon, charged with association, will be tried on Friday.

No more wrinkles if you wear our new cloth lined neckwear, $1.00 and better.

WILDWOOD COMPANIES WILL HIDE A RAILROAD

Modern Plan Will Insure
Rapid Rise in Value of
West Brook View
Properties.

One of the interesting features in connection with West Brook View, the new Wildwood development on the north side, is the manner in which the Lake Shore tracks are to be "wiped off the landscape." It is the same plan as that used in the development of Ottawa Hills, the finest of Toledo's close residence sections in which the E. H. Close Realty Co. has invested more than a million dollars. E. J. Little, salesmanager of the Wildwood companies, who visited Ottawa Hills last week, states that many of the finest mansions in the new subdivision are built upon grounds which border a railroad, but this fact is never known to those who visit the place for the reason that they cannot see the railroad. A thick growth of trees planted by the Close company completely hides the tracks and cars. Practically the same condition prevails in Fort Wayne, where many of the finest homes are within a few hundred feet of a railroad. This is true, for example, of the homes on West Berry street, west of Broadway, where the presence of a railroad (the Nickel Plate) within a few hundred feet is never realized by the residents of that portion of the city. This is due to the fact that the railroad is completely out of sight, therefore "out of mind."

In West Brook View, this fall, a thick row of willow and Lombardy poplars is to be planted as a border to the railroad, and in the course of a few months the owners of these properties will awaken to the fact that they own mighty valuable real estate which is now being sold at a low price simply because it may be a little difficult to see just how completely the railroad will be eliminated from the scene.

THE DIET OF WORMS

Dramatic Moment When Martin Luther Came to Answer.

IDOL OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE

"Neither Can nor Will Recant Anything"—Great Celebration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the Reformation to Be Held Oct. 31 in Many Churches.

Every one's dinner got cold in Worms when Martin Luther, outlawed, came to answer for himself at the first Diet the Emperor Charles V. held in that city in 1521. Everybody tried to get into the hall where the Emperor heard him. He was the idol of the German people, the fear of the foreigners and the champion of right.

The Doctors Disagree.

Luther had been excommunicated the year before. Excommunication not only barred from the Church and the hope of heaven, but it also made a man an outlaw and even called on the faithful and the civil authorities to put him out of the way. Luther had defied the Pope. He affirmed that the Pope and even the whole Church might err, and when they erred from the truth of God's Word their authority ended. He was forced to speak out this logical conclusion of his ideas by a debate, beginning on July 4, 1519, with Eck, a great debater and a very learned man.

When the Bull or decree of excommunication came into Luther's hands, he burnt it. Frederick the Wise, who ruled the little country in which Luther lived, would not yield him to the Pope or execute a ban against him himself. So Luther continued to live and work and make trouble for the Pope.

The Emperor and the Pope were political opponents. The Emperor was the supreme lord of the Empire. The Pope's claims were even higher. Each sought to gain adherents against the other. Charles could not afford to lose the favor of Frederick by insisting on the execution of the sentence against Luther. He might be able to bring strong pressure on the Pope through him, and so he determined to hear Luther himself at the Diet.

The summons reached Luther just before Easter, and he came to the Diet immediately after that Festival. All the way he was greeted by throngs of admiring people. Though he had a safe conduct, guaranteeing him protection until he should return, many feared he would be assassinated in Worms. But he went bravely on saying, "If there were as many devils in Worms as there are flies on the roofs I would have no fear."

The Trial.

It was late in the afternoon and darkness was falling. Luther's books were piled on a table before the Emperor. The representatives of the Church were not present, unwilling to countenance or hear the heretic in his own defense. He was asked if the books were his. When the titles were read he acknowledged them. Asked if he would repudiate his ideas as they appeared in the books, he requested time for consideration.

The next day he was asked, "Will you recant what you have written here?" Luther replied: "There are three groups of my writings. One group, the first, consists of those things which all hold to be true. I could not repudiate these without being the only one to deny them. The second group attacks the tyranny and corruption of the Pope, which are known to all. The third group attacks individuals. In this group I have been unnecessarily severe. But to deny them would seem to condone the abuses these men uphold. I therefore could not repudiate them either." This answer did not satisfy, and the Emperor asked for a plain answer. Luther replied: "Unless I am convicted by Scripture or by right reason (for I trust neither in Popes or councils since they have often erred and contradicted themselves)—unless I am thus convinced I am bound by the texts of the Bible, my conscience is captive to the Word of God. I neither can nor will recant anything since it is neither right nor safe to act against conscience. God help me. Amen."

Uproar and confusion followed. The Emperor adjourned the session as Luther said: "I cannot do otherwise. Here I stand. God help me."

That was the stand which affected modern religious liberty and through it to a large degree modern democratic ideals. Individual, democratic freedom and under God's Word is the hope of national and international progress. It is one of those strange freaks of history that the land which gave Luther, the champion of progress and liberty, to the world now stands in the way of the realization of those ideals.

Beautiful home surroundings in West Brook View. Lot sale opens Saturday, October 13, but you may reserve your lots NOW. The Wildwood Companies.

BUSINESS MAN

GREATLY BENEFITED

E. J. WEHRMEYER, PROMINENT
WAYNE STREET JEWELER,
MAKES STATEMENT.

Gives Credit to Ironated
Herbs With Pepsin

No new article of the times has created such profound interest, especially in the larger cities, as has the introduction of Ironated Herbs with Pepsin (in liquid form). People in all walks of life have been attracted to it; the statesman, the professional man, the mechanic, financier, lawyer, preacher, bookkeeper, farmer, brakeman, society woman, waitress—they all have tested it and permitted the use of their names in telling of it.

Every day local people are coming forward with signed statements, telling of the benefits they have derived from the use of Ironated Herbs. E. J. Wehrmeyer, whose place of business and residence is at 111 West Wayne street, was added to the ever increasing stream of voluntary recommendations.

Mr. Wehrmeyer conducts a jewelry store on Wayne street and is regarded as an authority on diamonds and jewels in general.

His progressive business methods have made friends of his customers for him, and it is extremely gratifying to receive the signed endorsement of such men as Mr. Wehrmeyer.

"I saw this Ironated Herbs medicine advertised and heard of the good it was doing for people in a run-down condition, so I bought a bottle and began taking it. I feel a whole lot better now. My appetite has increased and my food tastes better again. I suffered with gas on stomach after eating. Am happy to say after taking Ironated Herbs it has entirely disappeared. I sleep better and have new strength and energy. My improvement has been so marked that friends ask what I have been taking. I am a great believer in iron for the nervous blood, and find this organic iron in liquid form acts quicker than any I have ever taken. My digestion is better and I do not feel uncomfortable after eating like I used to. Ironated Herbs, in my opinion, is a great medicine and I think it will do as much for others in my condition as it has done for me."

"Concentrated pepsin in Ironated Herbs, the king of digestive agents, working in harmony with the natural gastric juices of the stomach, causes my food to be digested properly with the result that muscular development is rapidly acquired."

Organic iron is the making of thick, red blood and also gives strength to the nerves. Pepsin in concentrated form, dissolves, digests and assimilates the food and the potent herbal extracts destroy and eliminate poisons from the system.

Our demonstrator will gladly explain to you its merits and supply you with a bottle at Meyer Bros' drug store, 902 Calhoun street, Fort Wayne. It is also sold at all Meyer Bros' other Fort

MERCHANTS CHOOSE

G. A. DEHM PRESIDENT

Retail Dealers Will Follow
War Time Request of Wilson.

George A. Dehm, proprietor of the wholesale and retail millinery store at 1104 Calhoun street, was unanimously elected as president of the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association at a meeting of the organization held at the Commercial club Monday evening. Mr. Dehm will succeed Robert Koerber, who has been a most successful leader of the association.

J. Walter Liggett was chosen vice-president of the merchants' organization. Al Stentz was named treasurer and Attorney Harry P. Kennerk was re-elected as secretary.

Retiring President Koerber made a report of the association's activities for the past year that was warmly received. The membership of the organization has been increased by one-third its original number during the past twelve months.

Members of the Retail Merchants' association voted to give the national government their every support in this time of world-wide war. The first response of the union of merchants will be to follow the request from President Wilson and the national and state councils of defense which asks that shoppers be allowed to carry home all packages possible.

The national patriotic leagues point out in their appeals to the local merchants' organization that an effort should be made to cut down running expenses and to hold the jobs of the young men who are drafted into military service. One of the greatest avenues of waste is in the delivery department of every store. If patriotic housewives and male shoppers will carry home their little bundles the overhead cost of operating stores and the force of men needed can be cut down to the advantage of the public, the patriotic councils point out.

The merchants voted to make use of the placards furnished by the national and state war organizations and which ask shoppers to carry small packages, to shop early and not to take out goods on approval.

Membership into the organization was voted for the Schlosser Brothers Creamery, 602 West Main street.

An investigation of the proposed increase of freight rates by the Indiana public service commission was asked by the retail merchants. The local dealers hold that the raise in shipping cost is unreasonable and unwarranted.

Just Stop and Think a Minute

Isn't this the opportunity you have been waiting for? Are you tired of the noise and congestion of the city? Have you been longing for a little place in the suburbs where you could find the opportunity to cultivate a garden and really enjoy life, while, at the same time, keeping your employment in the city?

We selected this tract for just such people as you. We first sought an ideal location—one within easy reach of downtown by automobile or interurban. Then we engaged an expert to test the soil to determine its great value in the raising of vegetables and the establishment of orchards. Then we built modern streets through it, designed attractive entrances and completed the place for a perfect suburban community. We've planned it all for YOU and we know you will buy a home site here if you will take the time to see it. In Country Club Gardens "one look means a lot."

Why Country Club Gardens Appeal

The location is delightful—it adjoins the Country Club on the west. It is bordered on the north by the Huntington Road—a fine automobile route into the city. It has the interurban line of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction Co. on the south, providing hourly service to and from the city, at a fare of about 6 1/2 cents. The lots average 100 by 200 feet in size—equal to about three city lots. Building restrictions insure a high-class neighborhood. Catalpa trees will be planted along all streets, 35 feet apart. PRICES AND TERMS: Choice lots in Country Club Gardens range in price from $300 to $450. Terms: $10 down, and $5 per month. "ONE LOOK MEANS A LOT" Beginning tomorrow morning, every salesman connected with the Fort Wayne Real Estate Board is authorized to enter upon the active sale of the Country Club Gardens. Apply to any salesman and you will receive prompt attention.

ANTS HAVE COWS AND HERE'S STORY OF THE WORLD'S MOST UNIQUE DAIRY

Here is a picture of an ant milking his cows. Look closely at the ant's front left antenna and you will see it is squeezing the "milk" out of an aphid, or ant cow.

When Old Father Ant orders his daughter Mary to "go and call the cattle home, and call the cattle home," and call the cattle home" across the leaves of the tree he means just exactly what he says. And so this is the story of the most wonderful dairy in the world.

His domesticated animals have given man an undue sense of his own superiority. He thinks he's the entire box of Huyler's. Even the man who is modest enough to own he may have been created more than a little bit below the angels, is sure he was made several miles higher than the cows and the chickens. And the fact learn from the ants and bees if he just knows enough to learn them.

Aphids are tiny insects which live on almost every kind of plant life, including trees, and on any part of the plant—root, stems or leaves. They have hard, sharp mouth parts, like pinners, and with these they pierce the skin of the plant and suck up the plant juices.

These juices the insects only imperfectly digest, and the cane sugar which is part of the juice turns into what is called "invert sugar." This the tiny insect carries in its body, and it is this sweet liquid that the ants desire for their own food.

By a curious development of instinct the ants have learned how to "milk" the aphids of this sweet juice. The ant presses the abdomen of the aphid with first one antenna and then the other, very much as the milkmaid presses the teats of a cow. The aphid immediately expels from its body the droplet of honey dew, which is seized and eaten by the ant.

The hungry ant will then go on to second aphid and repeat the milking process, until it has consumed five or six drops of the honey dew from as many insects, when, satiated, it will leave its herd of cows until it is hungry again.

The ants know when the aphid has exhausted its supply of honey dew, and in this case, patiently wait until the aphid pumps up another supply from the leaves of the plant.

Some species of ants merely lick the leaves on which the aphid has dropped this honey dew; but most ants have learned to stroke the aphids to get the food.

In return the ant tribes take good care of their aphids. They fight against their enemies. They even build tents to protect them. In case of danger they have been known to pick up the aphids and carry them away to a place of safety. In winter the ants take the aphid's eggs to their own nests, and see that they are hatched out. Then they take the newly hatched aphids to a good "pasture" to "graze" for them, so that they can in turn be milked—just as the farmer treats the calf of his cow. The aphids are entirely satisfied with the arrangement, and never try to escape.

Whether there are any milk robots in the ant kingdom, or milk monopolists or ice cream factories, or dairy-maids' unions—science does not say.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is relatively low off south Atlantic coast and over the upper Mississippi valley; it is high over the St. Lawrence valley and the northern Rocky mountain region. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred in the middle, north Atlantic and gulf states, and in the upper lake region. The temperature has risen quite generally in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, but it has fallen in the far northwest and in eastern and southern sections, and severe frosts have occurred over quite a large area reaching from the St. Lawrence valley southwestward over the lower lake region, and the north and central Mississippi valleys to northern Louisiana and Oklahoma.

The place and sell it to the highest bidder when the sale of seats to the lower stand began. The line grew slowly and at midnight there were perhaps a hundred boys and men stretched along the fence. Some slept peacefully and others discussed the chances of the Giants to even up the series. In this line stood a soldier with his overcoat buttoned up around his neck.

Boy First in Bleacher Line.
The first in the dollar bleacher line was a young boy who put in an appearance last night. He did not have a dollar to see the game, but hoped to sell his place for the price of admission and a little extra to buy some lunch. When the rain came most of those who had stood for hours lost heart and sought shelter or went to their homes.

The old man and the young boy, however, stuck to their places and covered themselves with newspapers as protection against the rain.
With the first streaks of dawn, while the rain still was falling, lighter lines began to grow. Fans began to tumble from "L" trains and soon all arteries of travel led to the polo grounds.

Purchasers Had to Go In.
All seats in the upper pavilion had been reserved and 3,000 supporters left about 27,000 seats to be sold on the basis of first come first served, when the gates opened today. The management insisted that each purchaser of an unreserved seat go directly into the grounds. This arrangement was strictly adhered to and gave every patron of the club an equal chance despite every precaution taken by President Hempstead reserved seat tickets were to be had from speculators at the grounds and at the prominent hotels. Last night $35 was asked for one set of tickets to the three games but prices fell today due to the damp weather. The total attendance was expected to be more than 28,000, the capacity of the stands.

Giant Fans Not Entirely Hopeless.
While the betting odds favored the American league champions, all the way from 2 to 1 to 10 to 1, supporters of the Giants still were outwardly optimistic. The local rooters while admitting the superiority of the White Sox in the first two games, insisted that McGraw's men have not yet displayed their real baseball ability.

Outside of the main question as to whether the Giants can stage a spectacular comeback, the followers of the national pastime devoted the rest of their speculations as to the rival pitchers in the absence of official announcement. The opinion seemed to be general that either Cootie or Russell would start the victory while McGraw would pin his faith in Sallee or Benton.

Giants Must Win Today.
New York rooters admitted today that the Giants must win the third game to have a look-in at the championship. Delving into the records of past games does not aid any one in the encouragement of the followers of the National leaguers. These records show that since the world's series have been played under the rules laid down by the national commission no team that lost the first two games ever came through the winner of baseball's classic.

The New York fans, however, pin their faith to the uncertainty of the game and feel this is just as good a year to upset the law of averages as any other.

Chicago Beats the Average.
Chicago's attack against New York up to date is above the average so far as records go. It is pointed out that prior to Sunday's contest, which Chicago won 7 to 2, seven or more runs have been made in only seven of the sixty-seven games played under national commission regulations. Aside from the games won, Chicago has a decided advantage in the pitching. Manager Rowland's men have now batted against McGraw's best batters, pitchers whom the New York managers expected would at least break even with the American leaguers on their own grounds. The White Sox tapped Sallee sufficiently to win and hammered Schupp, the New York pitcher, out of the box. Both are left-handers. McGraw still has Rube Benton, another southpaw, but he may decide to try Pol Perritt, his best right-hand fighter, to stop Comiskey's men.

Sox Pitchers Up to Expectations.
Chicago's pitching has been up to Manager Rowland's expectations. Cioetto and Faber, the White Sox only two offerings so far, came through with victories. Neither was hit very hard and both now have the confidence of their victories. Rowland may decide to pitch these two men again before taking a chance on Russell or on one of his other twirlers.

New York fans, however, do not believe that Cioetto and Faber can duplicate their performance before a larger crowd at the Polo Grounds. Hein Zimmerman and Bennie Kauff, always dangerous men at the bat, have not yet broken into the hit column and the ardent supporters of the Giants expect these two burly batsmen to come through in fine style before the series is over. Fletcher is another good hitter who has not shown his real form.

CORPSE SAYS, "HELLO MOTHER"

lors? All efforts to identify the remains at Pokerville proved fruitless for nearly a week before Junge arrived at the town and claimed the corpse as that of his son. Word has been sent to Pokerville, Tuesday, but no news of the identity of the man held here can be learned.

When Junge thought the remains were those of his son he signed a contract to pay for embalming and casket and to have the body buried in Fort Wayne, regardless of its real identity. There is nothing for Junge to do but arrange for the burial of the unknown young man who is held here.

Had a Gold Tooth.
The body of the man, who fell from a freight train and was crushed by the cars, was identified by Junge largely by the presence of a gold front tooth in the exact location of a gold tooth in the mouth of Bernard Junge. When the elder Junge viewed the remains of the unknown person the body was laid out on a board and covered by a sheet. Now that the body has been dressed and prepared for burial there is not the original resemblance, the father states.

The victims of the train accident is a tall, slender man with sharp features. His hair is dark brown. There are no scars about the face and no special markings except the gold tooth, which misled Junge.

Took Long Walk.
Bernard, the real son of August Junge, escaped from an institution at Richmond, in which he had been confined for several years, early last week. He made his way to Indianapolis. From the capital city he wrote a letter home asking for clothes.

The Junge family sent a representative for their son. Meantime Indianapolis police had asked Bernard to "move on." He had tramped away from the city. When the Fort Wayne man arrived there he could not be found.

Bernard walked all the way home from Indianapolis, arriving Monday noon, and just in time to give his mother a severe shock.

ground won by them from a point northeast of Langemarck as far north as Ximunde.

This section of the front remained comparatively quiet while the British to the south were renewing their drive last month. Apparently the time is now considered opportune for bringing the line to the north more nearly on the level with the advanced British front. The French attack today extended as far to the north as Houtholst forest, about five miles toward the coast from Broodseinde.

It had been pointed out that with the salient parts of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt ridge in their hands, as the result of their success last week, the British were in an admirable position to push further east towards the Menin-Roulers railway line. This is a valuable line of communications for the Germans between their bases in southwestern Belgium and northwestern France and their Belgian coast positions was already commanded by the British guns. The renewed push is in the direction of this line, which before this morning's attack began was about five and one-half miles distant from the point of the British wedge at Broodseinde.

Numerous indications have been found, according to reports from the Flanders front, that the German morale in this sector had notably deteriorated under the crushing blows of the British and their overwhelming artillery superiority. Lack of the former vigor in the German counterattacks and their comparative infrequency are cited as corroborative of this.

The theory is thus suggested that despite the unfavorable weather conditions Field Marshal Haig decided to hit the Germans another hard blow while they were still staggering from the effects of their defeat last week and thus shake still further the already precarious hold on western Belgium possibly to the point where they would be compelled to let go.

Reports of the fighting made it appear that a determined push was being made by the British to close in on the remainder of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt ridge. The part of the ridge was directed northward from Broodseinde and eastward from Poelcapelle. Both movements aiming toward Passchendaele, crowning the northern sector of the ridge two miles from Broodseinde and about four miles from Poelcapelle. The process the British penned in a German force just north of Broodseinde. The Germans were caught there in Dalsey wood. They resisted strongly but the British had them surrounded.

Further northward the Germans were driven from the part of the ridge, the British advancing some distance along the lower ground towards the Roulers-Menin road.

Just north of Broodseinde at Dalsey wood the Germans held out strongly. The British surrounded the wood and hot fighting followed.

The British troops on Gravenstafel ridge advanced southwest of the town of Passchendaele. The French crossed the Jansbeek and Brownbeek rivers.

The latest report received says the Germans are counter attacking heavily astride the Ypres-Roulers railway. The British were sending back large numbers of prisoners at an early hour.

The combined attack of the French and British met with great success in the first few hours of fighting. It is reported the British have achieved success in a small operation in the region of Reutel and Polderhoek.

At many places the French and British have advanced to a depth of 1,200 yards or more.

The new British drive is making in the same region as the attack of last Thursday, one of the most successful British drives of the war. On that day the Germans were expelled from high ground along the ridge east of Ypres, giving the British dominating positions of great strategic importance.

The wedge in the Germans' line has been driven so deep that with the high ground lost their position has been made most unfavorable, and another "strategic retreat" has been predicted.

Recent dispatches from the British front, however, told of heavy rains and deep mud conditions under which ordinarily a renewal of the offensive would not be expected. The decision of the British staff to return to the attack quickly may indicate a purpose to force a decision before the cold weather sets in, or before the Germans have recovered from the last blow, which appeared to have partly demoralized them.

FRENCH ARE CO-OPERATING.

Paris, Oct. 9.—French troops on the Belgian front at half-past 5 o'clock this morning attacked in conjunction with the British army the German positions south of the forest of Houtholst between Draibank and Weindrift. The French official statement issued this afternoon says the struggle is continuing and is developing favorably for the French army.

The French war office statement follows: "In Belgium this morning at 5:30 o'clock we attacked, in conjunction with the British army, positions of the Germans south of Houtholst forest, between Draibank and Weindrift. The battle continues to develop favorably for us. On the Aisne front there was marked artillery activity, notably in the region of the Pantheon.

"In the Champagne we were successful in penetrating the German lines near the battle of Tannenberg. After destroying the dugouts our forces returned with prisoners.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun region) the artillery duel continues in the sector north of Chaume wood.

"There is nothing to report from the rest of the front."

Indiana Law Giving Women Franchise is Heard by High Tribunal.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Arguments in the case involving the constitutionality of the Indiana woman's suffrage law were heard today by the Indiana supreme court. The arguments advanced by the lawyers representing the interests attacking the law and those representing the women were along the same lines as those presented in the lower court in Marion county, which held the law invalid, and issued an injunction to prevent the election officials of Indianapolis from making preparations to handle the women's vote, or permitting women to vote in November.

FROST KEEPS MANY AWAY FROM MARKET

However, There Was Tempting Array of Vegetables—Prices About Same.

"There won't be much left now after last night's hard frost," was the common remark heard at market this morning when a tempting array of ripe and green tomatoes, many lima beans, very good looking green corn, green navy beans, squash, mangos, pickles, large cucumbers and of table green things, radishes, lettuce, endive, celery, etc.

Ripe tomatoes brought $1.50 a bushel, but they were fine ones. Lima beans sold as low as 25c a pound, sweet corn at 15c. Tomatoes still kept at $1.50 per bushel, and peaches and pears had not dropped much below previous prices, but the fruit was all in good condition.

Eggs varied from 4c to 45c, and butter hovered around 45c, while cheese, cream, buttermilk and the like sold about as usual.

There seemed to be a scarcity of chickens, but the Saturday market is always the big day for fowls. The frost kept people away from the market this morning and only the woman who knew just what she wanted got around early if at all.

Corn went up to $2 a bushel Tuesday, the highest it has been for over a week. One load, the first since last Friday, was weighed at the city scales. Seven loads of hay were received, with $18 as the price. Five loads of oats sold at from 55c to 62c a bushel.

GOVERNMENT REPORT CUTS CORN PRICES

Prospect of Bigger Yield Than Expected is a Bearish Factor.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Downturns in the price of corn resulted today from the government report which showed a yield largely in excess of what the trade had expected. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1c to 1c off at $1.19 1/2 to $1.19 1/2, December, and $1.15 to $1.15 1/2, May, were followed by a moderate additional decline.

Bullish constructions placed on the government report as to oats gave relative firmness to that cereal.
Stoppage of speculation in cotton seed oil had a weakening effect on provisions.

Waking Up!

This is the general waking up time of the world. All the nations are becoming acutely conscious of their weaknesses and deficiencies. There is nothing like a terrible war to jolt people out of their lethargy and make them see things as they are. And war has also another good effect. It makes people economize and forces them to seek out the best ways to save. The conscientious use of the Want Ads is helping many housewives in this community to effect savings in their household affairs that they could not accomplish in any other way. If you have not tried them yet—get busy now. Use the Want Ads for economy. With an Ad in The Sentinel you can talk to more than 75% of the people living in Fort Wayne.

Stockholders of the Wabash Hold Annual Meeting in Fort Wayne.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wabash company in the office of Attorneys Leonard, Rose & Zollars, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the old board of directors was re-elected without change. The greater portion of the $225,000,000 of stock was voted by proxy. Comptroller L. C. Scott, chairman; Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert, of Fort Wayne, and W. F. Bender, chief clerk at St. Louis, of the vice presidents, acting as judges. The election resulted as follows: William H. Williams, of New York, chairman; Robert Goetz, Henry Rogers Winthrop, J. Horace Harding, Alvin W. Krech, Winslow S. Pierce, Edward F. Kearney, Henry K. Pomeroy, Guy E. Tripp, Henry B. Joy, John K. Wilkes, J. Leonard Replogle, William A. Jamison, William V. Hereafter the annual meetings of the Wabash stockholders will be held May 3 and instead of completing the annual session Tuesday morning, adjournment was taken until May 3, 1918, when the representatives of the stockholders will again assemble in Fort Wayne to complete the session. It is understood that until after that date there will be no change in the official roster of the company, if any is contemplated.

Great Saving of Man Power and Fuel on the Railroads.

According to report of Frank P. Hassler, of the railway war board, the increase in the number of passenger trains has resulted in a wonderful saving in coal consumption and in man power in the states which comprise the "central department." The bulletin issued by Mr. Hassler reads as follows:

"A further saving of 96,772 tons of coal per annum, 30 locomotives and 114 men have been effected by reductions in passenger train service on the railroads traversing the fifteen central states designated by the secretary of war as the 'central department.'"

"The total saving of man power, fuel and locomotive power on these railroads in the fifteen states from Ohio to Colorado, by passenger train service reductions, is 1,086,171 tons of coal per annum, 233,097 barrels of oil, 350 locomotives and 1,174 men."

"The saving shown by the foregoing figures has been increased the facilities of the railroads for the transportation of troops, military supplies and other government business in addition to abnormal commercial traffic, both freight and passenger."

NEW FACES IN LINE-UP.

Several Unions Send New Delegates to Federation.

Eight credentials of new members were acted upon by the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor at the meeting last night. The unions represented included the moving pictures, the chauffeurs and the truck drivers, which were recently organized by J. C. Werkman and H. C. Hoeftle. The others were the plumbers, the barbers, the cigar-makers and the carpenters, the delegates filling vacancies in those ranks. The business of the session, with the exception of the incident which caused a loss to Fort Wayne of a position on the executive board of the State Federation of Labor, was of a routine character and not of special importance. A communication from the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor promised that the interest of Fort Wayne would be looked after in the distribution of coal. A communication from the St. Joe River Darn association urged the federation to impress upon the minds of the subscribers that the subscriptions were over due and that the money was badly needed. Several of the delegates made short speeches and all gave encouraging reports of the conditions of labor as they affected their respective unions.

over the Pennsylvania, for their respective homes. Mr. Williams, who is the vice president of the Delaware and Hudson company, came in over the Pennsylvania in his private car.

All the officials and representatives of the stockholders were feeling jubilant over the business conditions of the Wabash in particular and the country in general. All were here at the annual meeting last year and were surprised at the improvements that have taken place in the industrial and business portions of Fort Wayne as revealed in a trip over the city in an automobile before the meeting. Some of the greatest improvements in the way of factory buildings noted by these visitors were the General Electric additions on Wall street, the addition to the Bass Foundry and Machine works on Wallace street, the additions to the Bowser works and the fire story of the building now in course of erection at that plant. They also made note of the fact that Fort Wayne is the most important business point and greatest originator of freight on the line between Toledo and Detroit in the east and St. Louis and Kansas City in the west.

GERMANS YIELD TO NEW ALLIED DRIVE

BRITISH LAUNCH A NEW ATTACK ALONG THE YPRES FRONTS

Northeast and East of New Lines the Assault Is Made and Satisfactory
Progress Is Reported.

GERMANS COUNTER-ATTACK HEAVILY

London, Oct. 9.—The British attacked on a wide front northeast of Ypres this morning, the war office announced.

Satisfactory progress is being made everywhere. The attack, the statement says, was made "in conjunction with our allies."

The British statement says:
"At 5:20 o'clock this morning we again attacked on a wide front east and northeast of Ypres in conjunction with our allies on our left. Reports indicate that satisfactory progress is being made on all parts of the battle front. The weather continues stormy."

GERMANS PUSHED BACK.

British Front in France and Belgium, Oct. 9.—The British have pushed back the Germans through Post-cappelle and are fighting in the eastern outskirts of the city, about a large brewery.

Summary of the Day's War News

Without regard to the highly unfavorable weather conditions prevailing in a surprisingly short time after the successful British thrust of last week the British and French forces in Belgium have launched another heavy attack on the German lines. The blow fell early today in the region east and northeast of Ypres, where Crown Prince Rupprecht's line had already been dangerously bent back by the previous British thrusts.

The British commander early reported satisfactory progress on all parts of the front of the attack which he announced was made in conjunction with our allies on our left.

Shortly afterward the Paris official statement indicated clearly that the French forces in Flanders were those alluded to by the British commander in chief. The launching of an attack in concert with the British was announced of the attack reported.

A considerable force of French troops took part in the Flanders drive on July 31 and in the subsequent fighting that followed consolidated the

ARGENTINE STILL REFUSES TO MAKE CUT WITH BERLIN

Buenos Aires, Oct. 9.—The Argentine government is not prepared to follow the action of Uruguay in severing diplomatic relations with Germany, according to Foreign Minister Pueyrredon. Argentina has not pledged her neutrality, the foreign minister added, but is attempting to guard her own interests. Relations with Germany will be broken if sufficient cause arises, but as long as Germany recognizes the Argentine flag and respects the nation and the people there probably will be no break.

Much surprise has been occasioned in political circles here by the following statement said to have been made by the foreign minister of Uruguay in urging the Uruguayan congress to break off relations with Germany:

"Uruguay, as a small nation between two great ones, must seek a balance of force to resist the possible hegemony of Argentina, with which nation we still have questions which are not settled definitely. This balance consists in bringing closer together Brazil and the states of our connection with the great states of the present conflict so that it will make impossible an attack on Uruguay, sovereignty without an immediate severance throughout the American continent."

The unsettled questions between Uruguay and Argentina concern the river Platte. Argentina claims that the river belongs to her, while Uruguay insists that she own one-half. The dispute involves the ownership of the important island of Martime Garcia, now held by Argentina.

GOVERNMENT HAS VICTORY

Russia's Provisional Organization Comes Out at the Top.

Representative Body is to Act Hereafter in Advisory Capacity.

Petrograd, Monday, Oct. 8.—The provisional government apparently has won a complete victory over the preliminary parliament. M. Tsereteli, one of the leaders of Parliament, today informed Premier Kerensky that the parliament had withdrawn all its demands that the government be responsible to it and it had acceded to the government's plan that the parliament act merely in an advisory legislative capacity.

It has been agreed that the council shall have a right to put questions, but not the initial legislation and to deliberate on measures to which the government lays before it.

The government will work out the program for the parliament for the first meeting of which Premier Kerensky probably will personally lay before it the government's new program. At the suggestion of the government members of the bourgeoisie will sit in the parliament.

Premier Kerensky today officially informed all those selected last Thursday of their appointment to the new coalition cabinet. M. Maslov, who was offered the ministry of agriculture, declined on the ground that the interests of the present required his attention. M. Skobelev, Kerensky's choice for minister of labor, has not decided whether he will accept.

A KILLING FROST HITS MANY STATES

But Little Damage is Done
by Cold Weather on Nearby Farms.

The heaviest frost of the season hit the central and eastern states Monday evening. A killing frost is indicated by the daily weather map to have touched all of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Arkansas and Michigan and a part of Texas, Tennessee and Georgia. The result of the frost was evident at the local market Tuesday morning. Very few gardeners were present, and those who were stood on the stalls had very little produce on sale save that which they had had stored in places of shelter. Gardeners residing on the Tonkol, Mayville and Wayne trace roads all state that the frost Monday evening was the heaviest of the season, but that it did very little material damage as practically all of the garden produce had been harvested.

One gardener on the Bluffton road stated that although his loss was not very large, a considerable number of tomatoes and an acre of corn was hit hard by the frost of Friday evening. Very few farmers were caught unprepared by the frost and practically all of them are now in readiness for the long siege of winter.

AWAIT REPORTS ON SELLING OF ITALIAN U-BOAT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Full reports on the selling of an Italian submarine by a United States patrol ship through a misunderstanding resulting in the death of an officer and enlisted man, are being awaited today by the navy department from Vice Admiral Sims, commanding the American naval forces in European waters.

TO PROTECT CAMPS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Formal orders were issued today directing that no concessions be granted at training camps on the selling of Italian submarines. The orders are directed to the military authorities in charge of the camps and are intended to protect the camps from the influence of the Italian submarines.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Kindergarten Teachers Will Not Attend Indianapolis Convention.

Many matters of importance were passed upon at the school board meeting held Monday afternoon. Permission has been granted to the kindergarten teachers of Fort Wayne to attend the National Institute of Kindergarten teachers in Chicago next April, and they will therefore be excused from the convention to be held in Indianapolis.

The vocational school report was read and it was found that enrollments have been exceptionally heavy, fifty-two enrolling in the dressmaking course alone. The board decided to grant the request of the vocational school in regards to automobile motors. A six and four cylinder motor will be installed at the school within a short time. Two new teachers were also engaged. Miss Pauline Saylor will give lessons in painting and Miss Emma Dixon will give cooking lessons.

WOULD EXEMPT THE FIFTH SON FROM THE ARMY

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 9.—Gov. Edge to-day took action to exempt from service in the national army Paul Masterson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Masterson, of Lambertville, whose four older sons already had volunteered.

"I feel that the sacrifice you have been called upon to make is too great," the governor wrote to the parents, "and that it is not the object of the national government to deprive you of your last means of support; consequently I have directed the adjutant general to confer with the local exemption board with the view of exempting your son Paul Masterson."

The youngest son was examined, found physically fit and so certified by the exemption officials.

AND FRENCH LANDS

No Territorial Aggrandizement and No Indemnities to Be Basis.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—Germany and Austria-Hungary have agreed to make another peace offer to the allies, the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, of Berlin, says it learns on good authority. The offer will have as its basis no territorial aggrandizement.

The surrender of Belgium and French territory, the renunciation of positive territorial acquisitions for payment in money and no indemnity on either side.

HEFFERICH MAY RESIGN.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—There is growing displeasure in German parliamentary circles against Dr. Karl Hefferich, owing to Saturday's events in the reichstag. The General Anzeiger of Dusseldorf prints a report that Dr. Hefferich will resign the vice chancellorship in a few weeks, if not sooner.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Kindergarten Teachers Will Not Attend Indianapolis Convention.

Many matters of importance were passed upon at the school board meeting held Monday afternoon. Permission has been granted to the kindergarten teachers of Fort Wayne to attend the National Institute of Kindergarten teachers in Chicago next April, and they will therefore be excused from the convention to be held in Indianapolis.

The vocational school report was read and it was found that enrollments have been exceptionally heavy, fifty-two enrolling in the dressmaking course alone. The board decided to grant the request of the vocational school in regards to automobile motors. A six and four cylinder motor will be installed at the school within a short time. BRIDGEPORT JOB BETTER THAN AN OFFICE OR MINE

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 9.—Good wages were paid in this city before the war; high wages were the rule after hostilities broke out; now "an era of extravagant wages seems to have set in," according to C. E. Billon, president of the manufacturers' association. Working men in factories here, he said, are getting $50 a week in a large proportion of cases, while $70 and up is not uncommon.

All lines of men are affected.

SENATOR NEW WILL BE HERE TONIGHT

Senator Harry S. New will be a visitor in Fort Wayne this evening and has written ahead that he will be glad to meet his friends at the Anthony hotel at 8:30 o'clock. He is on his way to Lagrande where he is scheduled for a speech Wednesday at the corn school. Arrangements are being made for an informal reception in his honor by a number of local republicans.

WILL MAKE EARLY DECISION.

Washington, Oct. 9.—To permit an early decision, the supreme court today advanced appeals involving constitutionality of the draft law and fixed Dec. 18 for hearing arguments.

WORLD'S SERIES COMBAT IS PUT OVER FOR A DAY

Downpour in New York Forces Postponement of Third Battle of the Title Games.

ALL GAMES NOW SET AHEAD ONE DAY

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 9.—Rain—a heavy downpour that came out of the northwest, with no promise of cessation—caused a postponement of the third act of the world's series drama between the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox today.

Fifteen thousand spectators of the kind whose courage the two defeats of the National league champions did not diminish braved the stormy day and were disappointed when shortly before 1 o'clock the contest was announced postponed.

RAIN DAMPENS ARDOR.

Smallest Crowd in Years Was in Line for Tickets.

New York, Oct. 9.—A light drizzling rain was falling at 8 a. m., making weather prospects uncertain for the third game of the world series baseball game between New York and Chicago today. The air was cold and the wind was from the northeast. The weather bureau forecast for the day was fair and colder, but fans became anxious as the rain continued.

The atmosphere was decidedly cold, which was testified unanimously by the shivering fans who stood outside the gates all night. Rain early last night was falling and then ceased, but for a time fell lively, making the well groomed playing field heavy for the game.

Smallest Crowd in Years.

Police officials and polo ground guards on duty at Brush stadium, said the all night crowd was the smallest that has waited up for a world series game here in years. The first to appear arrived at 8 o'clock last night. He was a little old man more than sixty years old and took his place at the two dollar ticket window in order to hold

CORPSE SAYS, HELLO MOTHER

Young Man Beats His Supposed Remains Home to Fort Wayne.

AT UNDERTAKERS?

August Junge Has Signed Up to Bury Body Which is Not His Son.

Bernard Junge, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Junge, Parnell avenue, beat his corpse home from Pokenville, Monday.

While Mrs. Junge tearfully waited for her husband and her son-in-law, Daniel Googlein, to return home with the remains of her son, Monday noon, the young man walked into the house. "Hello, mother," said the fellow who was supposed to be dead.

Mrs. Junge screamed at the top of her voice. She ran from the house in hysterics. Neighbors hurried to the home, attracted by her frightened cries. It was several minutes before the mother was calmed enough to tell of the cause of her fright.

Investigation by neighbors revealed that Bernard was making himself comfortable in his old home.

Meanwhile the father was accompanying the remains of a young man, killed in a fall from a freight train and supposed to be his son, Bernard, home from Pokenville, a town in Posey county.

The remains of the supposed son arrived in Fort Wayne Monday night and were taken to the Junge home. The father was greatly shocked to find his son at home.

Whose is the body now held at the Wellman and Ulmer undertaking par-

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming such stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1917.

LA FOLLETTE'S "TERRORISM."

Senator La Follette declared to the senate last Saturday that the government was resorting to terrorism to compel popular support of the war. He cited that private homes had been invaded and that peaceful citizens had been arrested and thrown into jail.

The "terrorism" to which La Follette alludes is the close watch the government is keeping upon the Scott Nearing and the precious dynamiters and firebugs of the I. W. W., upon the hiring spies of Berlin and the unscrupulous journalists who have been preaching sedition through a press that there is very good reason to suppose has financial support from the German government.

That is the "terrorism" to which La Follette makes reference and a very wholesome and much-needed terrorism it is. The trouble to a great extent is that the government has been altogether too easy-going and trustful with the various elements that it now is found are making prosecution of the war more difficult and the task of American soldiers harder. Loyal citizens who stand behind the government and the nation in this war are having nothing to say against the steps taken and the measures employed by the federal authorities to frustrate conspiracies, strangle plots, suppress sedition, throttle treason and circumvent the spies. Even those persons residing in the country who may be untrue to their allegiance here or who have sworn no allegiance and those who in either case cherish sympathy for the enemy have nothing to fear if they deport themselves with good sense and prudence.

It is notorious that the German government has poured millions of money into this country to influence sentiment, to coerce congress, to compass works of destruction and to carry on an elaborate and dangerous system of espionage. It is known that Prussian spies swarm in the country and that by cunning means military information of great value to the enemy has been transmitted from here to Berlin. There are these things and the equally serious embarrassments created by misquoting and insane pacifists whose zeal leads them to undertakings that trench closely upon the borderland of treason. With them all the government must deal.

This nation is plunged in a great war. It is fighting for its future security and perhaps for its very life. All things that hinder or obstruct the war, all things that add to our perils and weaken our defense must be put down. Senator La Follette knows all this as well as anybody. He knows that in this free republic no less than in imperial and autocratic Germany the safety of the state is the paramount consideration in war. If there be those who set themselves against the government and endanger the national security and imperil our issue in the war they must take the consequences of their acts.

There is no terrorism of any sort that loyal citizens need fear and none that any other kind of citizens or even alien sojourners need dread if they appreciate the situation and mind their own business. But if La Follette or any others imagine the government with this great national crisis to meet is going to close its eyes to enemy conspiracies and plots to be deaf to sedition, to remain indifferent to treason and to give carte blanche to spies and propagandists to fare forth upon an unmolested course against the safety of this nation and people, they are fools. If they expect it or demand it they are worse than fools.

The grip of the war has not yet fully taken hold of the people of this country. It will not fairly do so until the boys in France are sent in to do the heroic work for which they have gone and are going over there. When the casualty reports have begun to come in the people will not be disposed to leave a great deal for the government to do in dealing with the seditions and treasonable, the enemy spies and plotters whose base work among us they make us require in the blood of our sons.

SOME GROTESQUE BUNK.

Up to this time the principal if not, indeed, the sole reason that has been put forward against the election of Maurice C. Niezer to the mayoralty is that once in office he will abdicate control and authority to outsiders.

If the voters of Fort Wayne can be to any purpose led on preposterous bunk like that they are in a bad way. We do not believe they are taking that kind of stuff with any seriousness at all. We believe they fully understand and wholly appreciate just how much of an affront such an appeal is to their intelligence, good sense and reason. We believe they will not be caught with chaff of that sort.

To begin with there is no one—outside or inside—who wants to run or would have any interest in trying to run Mr. Niezer's administration. The only factors in this campaign that would or could have such an interest are not supporting Mr. Niezer. They are against him and favoring his opponent with such degree of support as they dare disclose. They are not for the election of Mr. Niezer and will be greatly disappointed in their hope if not in their expectation if he shall be successful. Aside from these there are no elements, personal or otherwise, participating in Mr. Niezer's campaign that have an interest in any other result save that good government shall ensue from it—allowing, of course, for a good many about equally divided between the two parties whose civic aspiration does not get much above the level of a partisan victory. But here we have in Mr. Niezer a candidate whose qualifications and equipment, whose character and fitness are on all sides known to be ideal and by no one denied, who is charged with having as his single shortcoming that if he shall be elected mayor will not be a mayor at all, but a mere figurehead, a puppet, a servile and obedient official set to a political master.

That's a fine mess of bunk to offer as the serious reason, the dominant issue upon which an important municipal campaign shall be made to turn, is it not? Think it over, ladies and gentlemen of the Fort Wayne electorate. By the time you have come to rational conclusions as to the value of that sort of absurdity as the solitary asset of an opposition campaign, we shall have some propositions ready for the opponent of Mr. Niezer to discuss that we conceive have a vital bearing upon what the next municipal administration is to be like, what its policies are to be in respect of certain important public properties and concerns, what its attitude is to be toward a matter or two that have direct relation to the material comfort and welfare, the present and future of some eighty thousands of people in this community.

Meanwhile, imagine, if you can, a man of Mr. Niezer's affirmative character, innate honesty, sturdy courage, honest dignity, lofty self-respect, high public spirit and seasoned and successful experience as a big man of business getting himself elected to an office that outside its opportunities for public service will give him but poor compensations, and getting himself so elected merely that he may abdicate his responsibility and control.

The voters of Fort Wayne will require solid and proved reasons why such a man as Mr. Niezer should not be elected to the mayoralty when such a man as Mr. Niezer can be persuaded to stand for the mayoralty. They will not be influenced by an opposition campaign so destitute of reason for being at all as that it must resort to grotesque inventions for bare excuse.

THE PREMIER INVESTMENT.

A Liberty Loan bond is one of the few things you can buy wholly insured against any possibility of ever having occasion to regret the investment. Good investments are numerous. Land is one of them and if purchased with respect to prudence is as secure as this whirling old ball can furnish guarantee for anything. But land is not always able to command an immediate purchaser except at sacrifice. Certain industrial stocks and bonds and the usual run of local public securities are good investments, but have their little drawbacks and handicaps sometimes. But a government bond is to all practical purposes so much interest-paying cash. They are readily convertible if you want to convert them and they are the finest long time investments you can find if permanent investment is what you are looking for. Government bonds of the United States stand today the highest form of security the world knows anything about. If you buy Liberty Loan bonds all anxiety about your money at once ceases. You have it invested. Your investment will not be taxed. Your investment is as secure as the perpetual hills. The government needs your money and you ought to lend it to the government. It is a service that it is to your best material interests to render.

Invest your money in a Liberty Bond and help pay your new war tax.

(Anderson Bulletin.)
Hon. Maurice C. Niezer, the democratic mayoralty nominee at Fort Wayne, is a true blue American, and in clear ringing words so proclaims it. He says:

And I take this occasion to make it plain that in the event of my election the city of Fort Wayne will continue to have a loyal American administration which will take advantage of every proper opportunity to give expression to the overwhelming sentiment of our people in the support of all measures tending to aid in the winning of the war. I have no desire to side step this issue—if issue it is—as charged by the press of other cities and I would not compromise, even by silence, the Americanism which is my birthright and my blessing. Fort Wayne is a loyal city, its people are loyal and in the event of my election they shall have a loyal administration.

These are the words of a patriot. They are clear-cut and very definite, and the good people of that splendid, prosperous growing city will commend and approve them with their votes.

This country has its La Follettes, its Vandamans, Stones, Grommas, and Pili Thompases. They discredit the country, but Mr. Niezer stands boldly out in splendid relief against the disloyalists and tells the people where he stands.

He is no pussy-foot—nor is he courageous in his convictions and so proclaims them. He represents loyalty to the nation, state and his city in this war crisis. He is no trimmer—but an example of the true-blue, loyal patriot. He ought to be elected by all the votes in Fort Wayne.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

Tennyson, the greatest of the world's poets, is dead, but his beautiful verses will make his name immortal.

The sixth annual reunion of the Twenty-third Indiana Battery is being held today in the G. A. R. hall of the Lion S. Bass post, No. 40.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Northrop, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Bowser and others are in Logansport attending the meeting of the State Baptist association.

H. C. Berghoff, C. A. Zollinger, R. T. McDonald, R. S. Taylor, H. C. Hanna, Frank Stone, C. C. Gould, J. M. Barrett, A. Rothchild and Charles F. Muebler, of this city, were at Indianapolis yesterday.

The farmers of near Hoagland are making a vigorous "still hunt" after the men who it is supposed robbed Druggist Miller, of that place, not long since. A great deal of grain has been misfed from barns and chicken houses have suffered severely. If the robbers are caught they will be roughly dealt with.

Clinton Bourie, a mail carrier of this city, was assisting the handling of the scenery and stage machinery at the Temple last night. A heavy sand bag, used to aid in raising scenery, fell and struck him on the head. He was rendered unconscious, and taken to his home, 117 East Wayne street, where he has a wife and two children. He passed a restless night, but is reported much improved today.

A number of well-known and popular physicians have offices in the Fruit House block. This morning as these physicians were passing in and out of their respective offices they were considerably annoyed at some one calling up the stairway, "quack! quack!" Closer investigation showed that the cries of "quack" came from a duck which was left at the foot of the stairs. Each M. D. laughed and said it was the other fellow.

The police think they have a clue which may lead to the arrest of the miscreant who set fire to the Hughes and Bash property, on West Wayne street. On the night of the fire at about the hour of 1 o'clock a policeman ran across a man not far from the corner of the fire, who seems to answer the description of the man who was seen at the window by Mrs. Bash. The fellow was tall and wore a light slouch hat. He carried a short stick and seemed to act in a suspicious manner.

(Christian Science Monitor.)

The United States government is looking to its people for subscribers numbering 10,000,000, and subscriptions amounting to $5,000,000,000, for its second great liberty loan, and it is looking to them with profound confidence. Aside from patriotic reasons, the loan is an attractive one to investors, and it might be taken in a day by the banks, the trust companies, the insurance companies, the great estates and capitalists generally, but that is not what is wanted. What is wanted is that one-tenth of the population of the country, at least, shall have a share in the subscription, and that this shall be, in the truest sense, a popular loan. In the placing of the first loan, the disposition of the nation to approve the policy of the government in entering the war was greatly underestimated. There had been little display of outward enthusiasm in the country; but inward approval of President Wilson's course expressed itself in an astonishing manner. Far more money was subscribed in answer to the nation's call than the treasury at that time was prepared to accept.

Since then the whole aspect of things has changed. The people on every hand are giving open and generous recognition to the remarkable achievements of the administration in preparing for a proper entrance into the mighty conflict to which it is committed. More than a million and a half of men are under arms. An expeditionary force of no mean strength is close to the front in France. Great cantonnments for the reception of the drafted army have been constructed with marvelous rapidity. The naval force has been multiplied. War vessels are being constructed by the score, merchant vessels by the hundred. Within six months the republic has become a military and naval power. It has lent liberal aid to its allies. Its order, its enthusiasm, and its efficiency have been inspiring to Great Britain, France and Italy. There is no longer room for doubt in any quarter, friendly or enemy, as to the final outcome of the struggle. The issues have been reduced to two; time and terms. With the resources of the United States to draw upon, the factor of time is with the allies, and, eventually, the terms will be dictated by them.

According to the secretary of the treasury, the resources of the United States "were never so ample for our selves and so formidable for our enemies as they are now." He was speaking to 5,000 delegates to the national convention of the American Bankers' association, at Atlantic City, N. J., last week, when he said this. In his audience were hundreds of men familiar with the details of American finance, and not one of them contradicted him.

This is an individual matter. It is a case in which every man, woman and child should act for himself or herself. The subscriptions are open. At least 10,000,000 of the American people are expected to become subscribers. One need not wait for another. The things for the patriotic citizen to do is to get into line, at once, and lend his country financial help to the best of his ability.

THE FARMER'S DUTY

BY W. D. HOARD,
Ex-Governor of Wisconsin, and Editor Hoard's Dairyman.

Our liberty has been attacked on sea and on land, our freedom and institutions have been threatened, and our nation placed in jeopardy. Our soldiers are called to arms and are marching to the front; our good women are devoting themselves to Red Cross work, and civilians everywhere are aiding the government in its multiplicity of duties. War means supreme sacrifice to every able-bodied citizen, including men, women and children. It means unselfish and unremitting service.

The tremendous preparation which the government is making to close this awful war to a successful close means the expenditure of billions of dollars. This money must come from our citizens and from every class, including the labor, shopkeeper, manufacturer, banker, financier and farmer. It borders upon treason for anyone who can spare a dollar, to withhold it from his country's call.

There are millions of dollars deposited in the banks by the farmers of this country, which are earning them little or nothing. The liberty loan when he said it, or when he said this: "The combined resources of the national and state banks, including trust companies) are now $37,000,000,000. At the outbreak of the civil war, the combined resources of the banks were estimated to be $1,500,000,000, and yet with these limited banking resources the union government raised $3,000,000,000 by bond sales, or twice the amount of the banking resources of the country. Upon the same basis, we should now be able to raise $74,000,000,000 through government loans. I am not suggesting that this may be done. I am only drawing a comparison."

The comparison is interesting in more ways than one. In the civil war, the nation was practically without gold. Its paper money was at a discount. The great west was not developed. The industry of the south was suspended. The population had not been saving. The financial system was largely in the hands of a ring of speculators. With all that, the people took up the bonds offered by the nation, supplied the needs of the war, paid interest, maintained credit, steadily raised the value of their paper currency, and, within a dozen years, had returned to specie payments and a gold basis.

Material prosperity prevails today, in all sections of the United States. The government has an immense specie reserve. Values are stable. Property is secure. Wages are high. The savings banks have never, in all the past history of the country, been able to make a better showing. The amount of ready money available for investment is practically unlimited. The war taxes and war loans, thus far, have not perceptibly scratched the surface of the national resources. There is no doubt about the success of the new loan. The $5,000,000,000 expected by the government will unquestionably be subscribed.

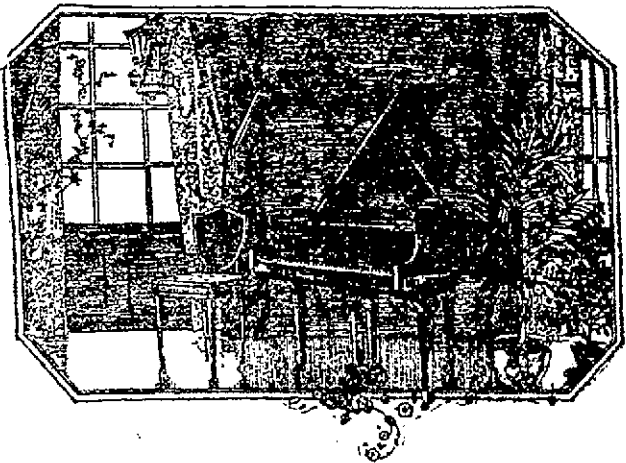

But it is important that it shall be subscribed quickly, with enthusiasm. Nothing will more certainly restore the illusion lingering in Germany, that the United States is not intending to throw its full weight into the balance in this contest than the news that, when asked for $5,000,000,000 to the war, the people of the United States, without hesitation, gave $5,000,000,000, and are ready for another call, and for as many others as may be necessary, until the fight is won.

This is an individual matter. It is a case in which every man, woman and child should act for himself or herself. The subscriptions are open. At least 10,000,000 of the American people are expected to become subscribers. One need not wait for another. The things for the patriotic citizen to do is to get into line, at once, and lend his country financial help to the best of his ability.

bonds offered by our government bear 4 per cent. interest. If patriotic reasons do not make a sufficient appeal for the farmer to invest in them, his selfish interest should move him to render his country financial assistance.

The liberty loan bonds are absolutely a safe investment. Every dollar not required for our business should be ready for prompt purchase of these bonds. This is no sacrifice, it is a profitable investment for you. It is helping your country and protecting your home and your business. This is one of the few chances that have come to American citizens to have money serve both patriotism and profit.

I am particularly anxious that the American farmer should subscribe generously to this second liberty loan. He has responded nobly to the call for increased crops and a hint to him that his money is needed also, will lead, I am sure, to the same unselfish devotion to his nation. The farmer must not neglect this duty. Our country needs his financial assistance, and for his own welfare he should be generous with his wealth. There may be slackers by failing to offer their money, but I vouchsafe the opinion that no financial slackers will be found among the farmers of America.

IDENTIFY SUICIDE

AS JOHN N. SLATER

Man Who Killed Self is Recognized by Fred H. Shaw.

The identity of the man who committed suicide Sunday morning at a Columbia street rooming house has been established. Fred H. Shaw, residing three miles east of Columbia City has been chiefly instrumental in establishing the man's identity. While reading the newspapers he noticed that the description accurately fitted a man whom he had employed on his farm a short time before. He organized a party and drove to Fort Wayne where he verified his suspicions.

He states that the dead man came to his farm about two years ago, and was given employment. He remained there until the beginning of August when he was forced to leave on account of his heavy drinking. Mr. Shaw said that the man told him that his real name was John Slater and that he had two children, having been divorced from his wife. He also frequently spoke of a married sister residing in Chicago. All efforts are being made to learn the whereabouts of the sister, and in the meantime the body will be held at the Getz & Cahill undertaking parlors.

LIBERTY LOAN WORKERS PREPARE TO HIT HARD

Plans for Man to Man Campaign Being Laid Out by Committee.

In the same business like way that Uncle Sam is entering the world argument the Allen county liberty loan workers are getting their forces to hit hard when they smash military auto-cracy. Clicking typewriters in the liberty loan headquarters and conferences of members of the county executive committee are the only signs that a great offensive will soon be on. "Count on Allen county being ready at the end," said William Schuler Tuesday morning.

All villages of the county have been billed with the flaring "Help the Liberty Loan" signs. There are few people in Indiana's largest county who have not heard that the mobilization of dollars will soon be on. Members of the executive committee of the county liberty loan organization will hold a formal meeting on Wednesday evening at the headquarters on East Berry street.

Irresponsibility Doesn't Produce a Successful Wife

BY WINONA WILCOX.

Young women like to consider themselves delightfully irresponsible. For so, they fancy, man likes them best. Helplessness makes a great part of the juvenile charm which it is now the fashion for men to regard as the choicest of feminine assets. The butterfly ideal of female perfection doubtless works its pre-natal spell as well as any other. But after marriage, if the husband has ordinary business ability, he begins to count on the comforts which are the extra dividends of matrimony. And too often he can't find any. The butterfly amusements which once enthralled him completely are suddenly revealed to him as plain laziness. Such idleness is doubly conspicuous since the war speeded up all the industrious persons of both sexes.

At present, there is a war-scarcity of housemaids. Those to be had demand extraordinary wages. Consequently many wives who were not brought up to work have had to assume the burden of keeping the house clean, cooking three meals a day, and washing up those dreadful dishes after each meal. They haven't the will to acquire the skill of the just-average hired maid. Chaos prevails in many a home which was planned to be altogether perfect. And lots of husbands who were raised in a well-regulated household, are considerably confused, disappointed and irritated. But the men do not fall down on their jobs as wage-earners. They continue to bring home an unopened pay envelope. They pay for the groceries, hats and gasoline as their wives expect them to do. The homes where this tragedy is most often staged are by no means poor. Often they are ruled over by college graduates, women who know all about interior decoration, who can discuss the chemistry of food, "who can tell the difference between hygiene and sanitation." But they have never discovered that order, besides being heaven's first law, is the basis of all art. A littered living room, a messy dining room and a dirty kitchen make a poor background for a beautiful woman. But they make an excellent advertisement of the unfairness of the wife who remains complacently incompetent while demanding that her husband be above par as a "good provider."

Hamilton School Exhibit.

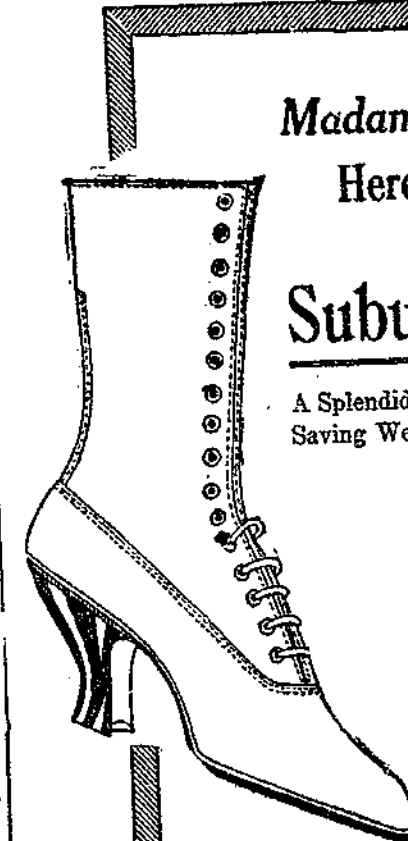

There will be an exhibition of the Elson art collection at the Hamilton school on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday between the hours of 1:30 and 9:30 o'clock in the evening. This collection of pictures comprises two hundred subjects and represents all the principal schools of art, showing the best copies of reproductions and displays of all periods and all countries. The new gymnasium of the school will be open to the public to visit at the time and pupils will illustrate exercises and use of apparatus. On Wednesday evening fifth and sixth grade pupils will take part on Thursday the fourth and fifth and on Friday the first seven grades. Refreshments will be sold under the management of the Parent-Teacher association and the public is invited to give attention to the exhibit.

HIGH CLASS "EDDIE"

Musical Comedy at Majestic Was a Number One Entertainment.

There wasn't a dull moment in the musical comedy, "Very Good Eddie," given at the Majestic theater last night by the Marbury-Comstock company. All the way through it was high class entertainment and more refined fun, singable music and delightful lyrics have seldom been heard. The situations are amusing to begin with and George Mack, Denman Maley and Florence Earle keep things at high tension. There were some beautiful dancers, Miss Elaine Ford and Ralph O'Brien giving the specialties, and as costumes were fresh and varied and the settings for the two acts were above the ordinary, the comedy was so taking that people sat until 11 o'clock ready to hear more all the time. The orchestral accompaniment was particularly delightful. The audience was highly pleased and manifested it throughout the performance.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Joseph Berghoff is being entertained frequently by her friends these previous days to her moving to Wisconsin to live as Mr. Berghoff has made a change in business and will locate in Sheboygan. One of the loveliest parties was given by Mrs. Henry Colerick, who entertained sixteen of Mrs. Berghoff's intimate and old friends. The rooms were gay with garden flowers of the season and the luncheon was of the usual high order of culinary art for which the hostess is justly famed. There are to be several other parties for Mrs. Berghoff this week.

One of the chain parties for Red Cross funds which are resulting from the beginning at the Country club about two weeks ago, was held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Brokaw, with Mrs. Arthur Twining as assistant hostess this afternoon.

Mrs. Florence Dinnen is entertaining her mother, Mrs. J. P. Mullaly, of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Frank Bohn has as her guest, her mother, Mrs. William McKay, who has just returned from Canada. Miss Frances Ott is to return from Plymouth, and begin teaching at Red Cross headquarters again, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baxter and children, of Germantown, Pa., are guests of Mrs. Baxter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hull.

Miss Marge Becker, of East Jefferson street, comes home on Tuesday evening from a visit in California, where she went last January.

Home G. Davison has returned from a four months' stay in Woodstock, N. Y., where he spent time working in the artists' colony.

Mrs. E. J. Heiny and daughters, Agnes and Josephine, of Chattanooga, are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Nicholas Heiny, 423 East Wayne street.

Mrs. J. Charles Bell has returned to her home in Elmhurst, N. Y., after visiting three weeks with her husband who is here on business indefinitely.

Mrs. E. E. Besser, Jr., of Chicago, has arrived here to visit for a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Breuer, of Washington boulevard east.

There will be a meeting of the Visiting Nurse League at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Ralph Magee, president of the league, who is visiting her daughter at Camp Taylor, Louisville, is coming home on Wednesday evening and will preside at the meeting.

Misses Marie Eickmeyer, Pauline Husor and Frances Nicol left on Monday for Texas, in Red Cross service. Miss Eickmeyer is going about three hundred miles south of San Antonio, the point where the other two nurses are to stop. All the young women are Lutheran hospital graduates.

Mrs. Elison Loos entertained twenty-five young girls at her home in West DeWald street, on Thursday evening. The time was spent in knitting and visiting until the refreshment hour when the hostess served delicious things to eat and drink with patriotic colors for decorations. Flowers, flags and white and blue as much as possible, were used.

Miss Helen Loos sang several numbers, with Miss Elison accompanying her, and the music was a delightful feature of the evening.

Fort Wayne men stationed with the Rainbow division, at Hempstead and Garden City, L. I., write home with enthusiasm of the kindness they receive from Mrs. R. T. McDonald and Miss Esther McDonald. Both Mrs. McDonald and her daughter are devoting all of their time to the work of Red Cross and to the soldiers, but Indiana boys who make themselves known to them, especially boys from this city, are given particular attention regarding their comfort and needs. Members of Battery D have written home here of the hospitality extended to them by these former Fort Wayne residents, several times, with much appreciation of the generosity and thoughtfulness of the hostesses. One young man wrote: "These ladies break their necks to help us boys along," which was eloquent, even if slangy.

Mrs. Ira Augspurger entertained a small company of young ladies on Monday afternoon in compliment to Miss Martha Vail, a bride-elect of the season. After forming a theater party at the Palace the company went to the Aumont store and enjoyed refreshments. Miss Katherine Archer will be a hostess on Wednesday for Miss Vail.

Mrs. Charles Mead gave a beautiful party on Saturday afternoon in honor of their daughter, Dorothy, who was five years old on that day. The guests, macaroni and spaghetti, and potato and tomato dumplings can be used in place of the common dinner dish, and one should remember that green peppers can be used with the onions or in place of them.

GIVE POTATO PLACE IN SUN

Potato Dishes for Dinner.

"Are you eating your share of the country's bumper potato crop?" asks the United States department of agriculture in a recent statement. "Now that the tubers are once more plentiful and cheap they may well be given a prominent place on the dinner table," continues the statement.

The department makes the following suggestions in regard to the use of potatoes at dinner:

Potatoes at Dinner. Potatoes may be freely used at dinner, the variety which we all like better, secured by varying the ways in which the potatoes are served. Then, which the potatoes are served, the fact too, one should not overlook the fact that, since both of the tubers are foods which are very palatable sources of starch, by eating more potatoes one can diminish the bread eaten and thus help to save wheat, which is such an important matter at the present time.

Many think that potatoes are at their best when prepared in the simplest ways, that is, baked or boiled, but even so some variety is possible, for they may be baked in their jackets, or pared and baked in the pan with milk, the juice they absorb improving their flavor. The skins may be easily rubbed off new potatoes, and almost as easily from old potatoes provided they are first dropped for ten minutes in boiling water.

Potatoes may be boiled or steamed in the jackets, peeled entirely, or with only a ring peeled around the center. The boiled potatoes may be served as they are, or mashed, or rice. Such simple changes as these help to give variety.

Mashed Potatoes. Boiled potatoes are at their best when mealy, so, after boiling, the water should be poured off, a little salt sprinkled over the potatoes, and the little not quite covered, and placed on the back of the stove, so that they may "dry out."

If you wish a novelty, in boiling new potatoes add a few mint leaves to the water in which they are cooked. In making potatoes one should always remember that, to be at their best, they should be served as soon as they are done. If one can not serve them at once, the skin on one side should be slashed in order to allow the steam to escape, and the potatoes kept hot.

Fried potatoes are also favorites and the ways in which they can be served are numerous and are well known. Fried potatoes seasoned with onion are a common dinner dish, and one should remember that green peppers can be used with the onions or in place of them.

Potatoes With Sauce or Cheese. Potatoes baked with white sauce and cheese, scalloped potatoes and other similar dishes can be used in place of the common dinner dish, and one should remember that green peppers can be used with the onions or in place of them.

Potato Soup. 3 potatoes, of medium size; 4 cups skim milk; 1 small onion; 4 tablespoons butter or other fat; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons salt; 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, or 1 stalk of celery cut in inch pieces. 1-3 teaspoon chopped parsley. Little cayenne pepper or paprika.

Boil the potatoes and when soft rub them through a sieve. Slice the onion and scald this and the celery with the milk. Take out the onion and celery and add the milk slowly to the potatoes. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or fat, into which mix the dry ingredients, and stir into the boiling soup. Boil one minute; strain, add the remainder of the butter, or fat, and sprinkle with the parsley when ready to serve. The parsley improves the looks and adds a little to the flavor but may be omitted if this is more convenient.

Stuffed Potatoes. A nice way to secure variety is to cut a slice from the top of each baked potato and scrape out the inside. Mash, season with salt, pepper, chopped parsley or chopped celery leaf, or onion juice (if liked) and butter, or savory fat, and heat in a little hot milk; add 2 well-beaten whites of eggs. Refill the skins, sprinkle with grated cheese or bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven about six minutes.

Creamed Potatoes. There are several different ways in which creamed potatoes may be prepared. (1) Freshly boiled or cold boiled potatoes may be heated in cream cubes and served heated in cream sauce. (2) Wash, pare and cut potatoes into small cubes. Put into frying pan with a few slices of onion cut up very fine, and parboil 10 minutes. Pour off water. Add one tablespoon butter or drippings, or other fat, seasoning of salt and pepper, and milk enough to cover. Cook for 15 or 20 minutes, or until the potatoes are well done and the sauce thick and creamy. It is necessary to stir the potatoes frequently to prevent sticking. The starch in the potatoes thickens the sauce. Creamed potatoes are particularly good to serve with fish or chicken.

Hashed Brown Potatoes. Cut cold boiled potatoes into small pieces (2 cupfuls), season with salt and pepper, cook three minutes in one-third cup bacon drippings, stirring constantly. Let stand a few seconds to brown underneath; fold like an omelet, and serve on a hot platter.

These are very good with broiled or fried fish or meat.

Meat and Potato Pie With Potato Crust. Boil meat, cut into small pieces. Mix with potatoes separately boiled and cut up, and put into a baking dish. Make a crust by mixing smoothly mashed potatoes to which a tablespoonful of shortening has been added, with enough flour and water to make them roll out easily. A pie made of a pound of meat will require five or six small boiled potatoes, a cupful of mashed potatoes and eight or ten tablespoonfuls of flour, and should be baked about twenty minutes in a hot oven. Salt, pepper and other seasoning, as onion and carrot, may be added to taste. A teaspoonful of baking powder makes the crust lighter.

Potato Pudding. 1/2 lb. mashed potatoes (3 small potatoes). 4 tablespoonfuls butter or good cooking fat. 2 eggs. 1/4 cup milk. 1/4 teaspoonful salt. 1/4 lemon (juice and rind). 1 tablespoonful sugar. 1/2 cup raisins or raisins and nut meats.

Boil potatoes, mash and add butter, eggs, milk, lemon juice, grated peel and sugar. Beat all the ingredients together and bake in a buttered dish for three-quarters of an hour or longer.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Try This! Your Hair Appears
and Beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.—Advertisement.

SCHOOLS PREPARED TO BAFFLE FLAMES

Fire Drill Shows Children
Than a Minute.

Principals of all city schools are giving talks in every grade room on the subject of fire prevention Tuesday in honor of Fire Prevention day in Indiana. City firemen are inspecting public buildings.

Children of the city should feel a greater degree of apprehension about the safety of their parents so far as the ravages of flames are concerned than parents need undergo experience about the boys and girls in the city schools.

Pupils in the classrooms are safeguarded by fireproof buildings in which there are no trash filled attics, and besides the children have demonstrated during the past few days that they can leave their seats in the school buildings and be at safety on the streets in about a minute.

Capt. J. F. Huber, of No. 8 engine house, and Capt. P. Roth, of No. 2 station, are in charge of the fire drill exercises in all schools of Fort Wayne. The two men visited nearly all the grade schools during the last three days of last week and at each building they sounded the fire alarm.

Teachers and pupils were unprepared for the alarm bell. There was no confusion in any school. The boys and girls fled out upon the street in remarkably fast time. The record for the grade schools, giving the number of pupils and the time required to gain safety after the alarm sounded follows:

School	Enrollment	Time
Hoagland	450	1:05
Hanna	500	1:10
Hamilton	580	1:20
Miner	517	1:00
James H. Smart	675	1:00
South Wayne	308	1:10
Clay	425	1:25
St. Mary's	450	:50
St. Peter's	676	1:00
St. Catherine's	620	1:10
Zion	300	:40
St. Paul's	305	:50

Delay which caused several of the schools to take longer than a minute in marching the pupils to safety was due to the fact that there are many little tots who have never heard the sharp clang of the alarm bell before. Now and then there was a little boy who wanted his hat before he left the building. Some little girls cared more for their new books than their safety.

Every second of delay counted up as Captain Huber stood with his stopwatch in hand. Teachers in each school are trying to perfect the fire drill system so that every school can be emptied in less than a minute.

Have you lost your Make-Believe?

Come on—let's go!

We'll see a picture-play—and a good one.

We don't even know the title of it—we don't happen to care this time.

We do know a theatre that advertises under the Paramount and Arctcraft trademarks—and we know that means "famous stars superbly directed, in clean motion pictures."

Paramount and Arctcraft Pictures

"FAMOUS STARS, SUPERBLY DIRECTED, IN CLEAN MOTION PICTURES"

What an illusive thing it is you are paying for and giving your time to! Phantoms dissolving to nothing at all when the light snaps off.

Is it? It's nature, sunshine, laughter, love, life!

What do you really see as you sit there in your chair unconscious of others in their other chairs all round you?

Not the illuminated screen, not the beam of brilliance from the camera up above—no, not the moving lights and shadows of the photograph itself—not the picture at all, but the story the picture tells.

You live it.

For that one hour or two you live a different soul—likely in a different land, quite possibly a thousand years ago. Maybe you half realize after a while that your tongue is dry. Sometimes your eyes grow moist—with sympathy or mirth, no matter. You don't know it. You've lost yourself—and good riddance for a bit.

You are living the romance that makes this work-a-day world well worth while after all. You are adventuring, struggling, over-coming, avenging, forgiving, laughing, hating, loving.

And when the story ends, you walk out into the blazing real world—but you are for quite a while a good deal younger and a sight more human!

That's you, isn't it? There are fifteen million others just like you in that one thing. But there are twenty million others who are missing it, and this message is not to you at all, but to them.

Of course you want to see Paramount and Arctcraft pictures—the best the motion picture art affords. Paramount pictures give you the motion picture in all its varied forms—great feature plays, and stars, master comedies, weekly magazines and travel pictures. Arctcraft pictures give you the feature play developed to its apex—famous stars of screen and stage in pictures worthy of their talents.

If it happens that the theatre around the corner has not yet gotten around to showing Paramount and Arctcraft pictures—it will, if you ask for them. Because the motion pictures bearing those famous trademarks—Paramount and Arctcraft—are now available for every good motion picture theatre in the land. They are produced for you—see them

TRAVEL OF EASTERN

MEDITERRANEAN HARD

Usual Lanes Barred by Long Lines of Steel Nets to Catch U-Boats.

Corfu, Oct. 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Travel in the eastern Mediterranean during these war days is no easy matter, for the usual routes of travel are now barred by long lines of steel nets, set to catch submarines but at the same time establishing a vast labyrinth of danger and obstruction for any sort of travel. The nets stretch clear across the main channels, from island to island, and from the shore islands to the mainland, sometimes ten and fifteen miles away. Through these nets the privileged steamers—for all the regular lines are abandoned—must pick its way, during the brief interval that an opening is made daily to permit the passage of friendly shipping, seen from the deck of the steamer, the torpedo nets stretch away for miles. The visible part above water consists of steel cylinders, about 12 feet long and 3 feet in diameter, like a railroad log. These are chained together about 30 feet apart, and at intervals are fastened to a large anchored buoy by a chain in an unbroken line. Thus the chain runs under water from the buoy to the meshes of the steel net hanging under water from the chain, to gather in submarines just as fishermen make their hauls of herring.

One gets occasional glimpses of this under-water net, as it comes to the surface on the station ships. These are small trawlers, or steam fish launches, every mile or two apart, and two of them are at either side of the narrow passage admitting friendly ships. It is their business to raise the net at stated intervals, and to look over the papers of the ships that pass.

As we moved through the passage the steel net was plainly visible drawn up on the station ship. It looked to be about 12 to 15 feet across. The strands of steel wire were very heavy—about one-eighth inch—and the mesh rather open, as a submarine is such large game that a fine net is not needed to take it. It was seen, too, that each of the station ships had its own armor of steel nets. Long iron rods extended from the upper decks, from which hung the nets, making a curtain of steel entirely circling each boat, thus protecting it from attack while it remained in charge of the nets. Each ship, too, it was noted, had a rapid-fire gun mounted fore and aft.

One line of these nets stretched from the upper end of the island of Corfu over to the mainland of Albania. It seemed endless, and its further reaches were lost in the distance. Another line swung around the harbor of Corfu, where the allied warships are gathered and the government of Serbia is located since it was driven from home. Further south a third line of these nets extend from the southernmost point of the island over to the mainland. Back of the nets could be seen the huge warships and the frowning fortresses constructed on the heights by the Venetians. It seemed strange that strands of steel wire could protect such fortresses and monster ships, and it indicated to what an extent war entanglement—on land and water—has taken its place for the first time in this war.

An insect measuring two and a quarter inches can draw a little waspette of the weighing nearly one and three-quarter pounds. In crossing the weight by one-half, the insect can continue to drag its load a few more paces. In other words, it can drag forty-five times its own weight.

Here in the United States many persons were greatly astonished when they read that the "Battalion of Death," a regiment of women, had actually gone to the Russian front, drilled and trained to fight in the trenches like men.

We need not have been astonished. There was nothing very novel about it. Russian women had been fighting in the army ever since the war began.

When I was on my way from Vladivostok to Petrograd the subject was introduced convincingly to my attention by the vision of an armed woman soldier patrolling the platform of a station at which we had stopped one morning.

She wore the regular uniform of the Russian army, with the number of her regiment done in yellow on a red band at her shoulder, and very likely I should have noticed it was a woman if it hadn't been for her hair. This was done up in a big yellow twist, like a section of a bawser, at the back of her neck directly under her cap. It must have been a rather remarkable mane she had, judging from the size of the roll it made.

The women that enlisted in the "Battalion of Death" had their hair clipped close to their heads. This woman and other I saw afterward in the ranks still held to their long locks.

She marched up and down the platform exactly like the man soldier patrolling the other end, and was utterly indifferent to any staring attention she might receive from passing trains. It was evident she was used to the service and its duties.

I asked a Russian officer with us on the train about this apparition and he said it was a commonplace sight. He said there were hundreds of women serving in the Russian ranks as regular soldiers. They had offered themselves for enlistment, making no attempt to disguise their sex, and the government had willingly taken them. Without exception they made good soldiers and many of them had been decorated for acts of conspicuous courage.

I asked him what induced them to enlist.

"Apparently," he said, "it is because they want to fight. They seem to be interested in the war and want to take part in it. I suppose with some it is sheer love of adventure, but with the most it is patriotic impulse. Some have lost their husbands in the war and enlist to take their husband's place. Some, I think, are aroused by the falsehood that Russia is to stop fighting and want to show that the old Russian spirit is not dead. That was what brought out the 'Battalion of Death,' you know.

WOMAN SOLDIER MAY ASTOUND US; NOTHING NEW IN RUSSIA

Russian Women Do Everything Men Were Wont to Do—Fire Locomotives, Build Houses and Enter Army to Fight in Husband's Places, Totally Oblivious of Sex.

"Yes, they are trained exactly like the men, go through the same course of instruction and have the same duties to do in the field. No distinction is made. In fact, when they go into the army they drop every consideration of their sex. As a rule they are serious-minded persons. There is no skylark about their performance. They are in the army to fight."

I asked him what class they came from. He said they were mostly peasant women, but there were women of all classes in the army.

He said the only weakness the woman soldier developed was usually about her feet. She could not stand the long marches so well as men. Otherwise she could march, fight, dig trenches and handle machine guns as well as any of them. There were authenticated cases, he said, where women had clung to dangerous positions after men had retreated, and he told me the story of one woman soldier who, finding all her company officers had been killed, assumed the command, rushed the company forward and took a trench.

This, I found afterward, was an incident in the life of the woman that commands the "Battalion of Death." The Russian woman has often found more to do in this war than to sit at home and knit socks. Of course, she is now the conductor on all the street cars of Petrograd, Moscow and other cities. This is not so remarkable, because women are doing such work in other belligerent countries of Europe. In Russia she is working in the factories, laying pavements in the streets, building railroads, becoming a carpenter and machinist, and learning other unusual trades.

At the town of Zima, in Siberia, a switch engine on an adjoining track came down past as we were in the dining car for luncheon and revealed the fact that the firing person on it was a woman.

She was dressed in greasy overalls and wore an old black cap above her hair, which, as in the case of the woman soldier, was done up in some kind of a knot at the nape of her neck. She handled the coal shovel with neatness and dispatch; also, I judge with skill, for we were at that station about an hour, the engine kept steadily at its switching job and she furnished all the firing. When she wasn't handling the shovel she was sitting on the seat, at the fireman's side of the machine and contemplating the world with that air of professional unconcern that the experienced railroad man always has; so I gathered she was no new hand. In fact, I know she wasn't because no one around the station paid any attention to her. Afterward we found that she was not the only woman firing person, and no one in Russia now was astonished to see a woman engaged in any kind of work that men could do. I believe there are still those in the United States who are enough asleep to parrot the old talk about woman's place being the home. They should take a few trips through the warring countries and see.

"Two Ranges in One"

A single coal and wood range is wasteful, except for winter use. A single gas range is wasteful, except for summer use. To combine the two is ideal, and meets the demand of the twentieth century for "Comfort," "Convenience," "Economy"—all the year 'round.

The Duplex Alcazar is a single range, only forty-three inches long, in which gas and coal or wood can be used at the same time, or separately, just as desired. It is just the range for your home.

There is nothing to lift out or interchange. Simply "pull or push a lever" at lower right hand side of range and oven is ready for use for either fuel. It is as easy as turning on or off the water faucet in a kitchen sink.

It is a range that is complete in itself and provides real "Convenience." It is not a make-shift with dirty parts to pull out and leave standing around the kitchen. Such ranges are nuisances, and add worry to the troubles of neat housekeepers and the practical housekeeper will not put up with it. She does not want to be a mechanic. Her aim is to lighten—not to complicate her kitchen work. She is seeking the happiness of her home and to that end the Duplex Alcazar is in a class of its own. It constantly grows in favor, as the Twentieth Century Housewife comes to know the necessity of reserving her strength through "Comfort" and "Convenience" and the wisdom of practical "Economy."

This is of particular advantage in mixing dough, batter, frostings, etc., when flour or sugar is added a little at a time until proper consistency is obtained.

The talks by the ALCAZAR KITCHEN EXPERT are most valuable just now—they are not lectures—just nice little heart to heart talks about how to use fuel more economically and at the same time get better results both in cooking and heating while you enjoy more comfort and convenience.

GREAT INTEREST IN INDIANA'S BIG GAME

U. Eleven to Meet the Ohio Champs of West November 3.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Interest in the football game to be played by Indiana university and Ohio state university at Washington park in this city on Nov. 3 already has reached such a high stage as to assure of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a gridiron contest in Indiana. The showing that Indiana university made at the Indianapolis game last year against the famous eleven from Tufts college gave the state school a wider following among football enthusiasts and the fact that Indiana is to meet the big nine champions of 1916 from the Ohio school this year is causing the followers of the gridiron from all parts of the state to sit up and take notice.

Especially is the interest in the game strong because it is conceded generally that Indiana has one of the strongest eleven this year that has ever represented a school from this state. The showing made in the first game of the season against Franklin college assures the supporters of the team and crimson that no team will go through a game with Indiana this season without realizing that it has had a hard fight.

Indiana defeated Franklin 56 to 0 in the first game of the season and only elementary football tactics were used in gaining the victory. After the early weeks of the season Coach Stehm will have developed many new plays and his well known football strategy is expected to play an important part in Indiana's string of victories.

Seats for the Indiana-Ohio game which were placed on sale at the Indiana university alumni headquarters, 1016 Merchants bank building, the first of the month, are in great demand, many orders having been received from all parts of the state.

FABER GIVES EXPLANATION OF HIS BOOB PLAY SUNDAY.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Urban Faber, late of Cascade, Iowa, Chicago American league pitcher, and a base running strategist of sorts, left behind with his friends Sunday night an explanation of his attempt to steal third base Sunday at a moment when Weaver was exercising squatter sovereignty in that precise spot.

"When I hit and reached second on the throw to the plate," Faber is quoted as explaining, "I saw Weaver rounding third as I pulled up and thought he had scored. Porritt took a slow windup and I lit out for third. That's how it happened."

RICH MEN RACE THEIR OWN NAGS AT LEXINGTON

Dinner Stake for Field of Three-Year-Olds the Day's Feature.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—The Dinner stake for three-year-olds is the chief attraction on the program of the Grand circuit meeting here today. It is for $5,000, $1,000 for each entry, being put up by the Breeders' Sweepstakes club, composed of thirteen wealthy men who breed and race their own horses. Each horse was bred by the man who entered him. The eligibles in the stake are Miss Bertha Dillon, Harvest Gale, Tacita, Daddy 8 and Braburn. Miss Bertha was a heavy favorite in the early betting.

Another stake race on the card is the Cumberland for pacers eligible to the 235 class on June 1. The entries in this event includes some of the fastest pacers stabled at the local track, among them being Little Frank D, winner of a race last week; Braden Direct, The Saxon, Auto Zombro, Thomas Earl, Peter Look and the fast but unreliable Peter Pointer.

A 2:06 pace, 2:08 trot and a 2:15 pace, each for $1,000, made up the rest of the program. Every race of the five events was a feature at yesterday's meeting. The Carterton stake was won by Mabel Trask, and the Champion Futurity, worth $5,000, went to Opera Express in exciting brushes, but the meeting of Mabel Trask and St. Frisco really overshadowed the other events, and a good crowd braved the cold, raw day. NOTRE DAME GATHERS SPEED FOR WISCONSIN

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 9.—Coach Harper was exceedingly well pleased with the showing his Notre Dame warriors made against Kalamazoo on Saturday. Eight touchdowns prove the strength of the backfield, and of the line, who, led by the giant Rydzewski, plowed great holes in the enemy's defense. The ends held so well that Kalamazoo was unable to gain a single first down, except by Notre Dame penalizations. Bahan, playing his first game for Notre Dame, was one of the stars. In the third he squirmed through a bunch of tacklers and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. DeGree's kickoffs went high and far, giving the ends plenty of time to get down the field. Rydzewski kicked seven goals in eight attempts. Notre Dame's showing against Kalamazoo was most encouraging. Harper's men will face Wisconsin with confidence and determination.

WORK IS STARTED ON RATION HEATERS

They Are Made of Newspapers Rolled and Soaked in Paraffin.

The school children of Fort Wayne will soon be started in the work of making trench-torches for soldiers. These torches have an extensive use in the trench, both for light and heat. They are made from a rolled newspaper which is soaked in paraffin. All that are made will be turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross and will be placed in the soldier's comfort kits.

The Mishawaka quota of knitted garments was received Monday at the Red Cross warehouse of the northwestern Indiana district, North Calhoun street. This shipment consisted of one thousand knitted sets of sweaters, scarfs, socks and wristlets. A large supply was also received from the Fort Wayne chapter.

Starting Tuesday Miss Mary Dorn will conduct classes in intensive surgical dressing at the Red Cross warehouse, North Calhoun street. She has had great success in this work, having received her training at Washington, and a large number should avail themselves of this opportunity to learn the art of surgical dressing.

A number of speaking arrangements have been made by the ladies of the Red Cross. Wednesday, Mrs. A. L. Johns will talk to the Women's society of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church and at the same time Mrs. Harding will speak at the meeting of the Trinity Episcopal church guild. Mrs. H. O. Bruggeman will speak Friday at the Fort-Teachers' club of the James H. Smart school.

Monday, Mrs. Fred E. Hoffman donated seven large tables and the horses to hold them, for use in the children's garment department of the Red Cross. Mrs. E. B. Keller has charge of this department for making garments for the refugees in France.

At the time of the Spanish conquest, an ivory grain, finer than mustard seed, was made into paste for molding into religious idols and was an important food in those times of scarcity of meat. This grain, known to the Aztecs as "huauhtli", was among the tributes paid by the pueblos to Montezuma. The botanical identity of the seed was long unknown, but the collections of Dr. Edward Palmer in the states of Sinaloa and Jalisco included fish-bone-like seeds of an amaranthus. The plant was found both wild and under cultivation, a paste of the seed and sugar being sold under the name of "huauhtli". Dr. W. E. Safford, of the department of agriculture, has recognized in these specimens the sacred "huauhtli" of Montezuma's time, and suggests that this amaranthus might be cultivated in favorable situations. Closely allied plants are cultivated in India, Tibet, South America and Africa as grain crops.

Downing street, a name now synonymous with the English government, was named for Sir George Downing, who was not an American, but who came with his parents to America in his infancy. He graduated from Harvard in 1642, second in his class. Downing was a son of a Puritan minister and his mother was sister to Governor Winthrop, of the Massachusetts colony.

You have admired the newspaper pictures of West Brook View. Why not take a little time and see the real landscapes? They're as close to the court house as Swinney park.

ADDITIONAL CITY HALL

SPUDS TELL STORY.

Tubers Show That Leaves Make Valuable Fertilizer.

Ten bushels of large potatoes offer eloquent argument in favor of the theory that fallen leaves make excellent fertilizer. The tubers were grown in the arroyo back of the city barn at the foot of North Clinton street. They flourished in a soil made up of street sweepings and decayed leaves. Street Superintendent Herman Strodel dug the potatoes on Monday. He has spent but a few hours during the summer in weeding out the weeds. The truck patch in the ash heaps and piles of leaves was only an experiment.

In addition to the potatoes there was a tomato crop and several stocks of corn produced in the waste soil. Strodel has brought a sample of the potatoes to the city hall as an argument why citizens should place their fallen leaves on their gardens.

It was the decaying leaves which made the garden possible, says Strodel.

disease, health officers say they are certain. A close watch is being kept on all homes where the yellow card appears. There were few vaccinations on Tuesday.

New cases of contagion reported Monday afternoon were: Bernard Allen, 9, 412 West Creighton avenue, scarlet fever, and Herbert Wunderlin, 12, 442 East Jefferson street, smallpox.

JAENICKE FAMILY HERE.

Wife and Three Daughters Arrive From Colorado Springs.

Adolph Jaenicke, the new park superintendent, was a busy man Tuesday in looking after the housing of his family, who came to Fort Wayne from Colorado Springs, Col., Monday night. The wife and three daughters have come from the western city to make their permanent home here.

The Jaenicke family will live at 1001 Edgewater avenue.

Came From New Haven.

People living as far away from the city as New Haven have applied to Adolph Jaenicke, park superintendent, for flowers from the beds in the city parks. On Sunday and Monday there were many rural folk who drove to the city in quest of the posies which were removed from parks and given to people who will keep them over the winter. The stock of free plants has now been depleted. Several thousand plants were disposed of by the park board and much to the gratification of lovers of flowers.

You will never have such a splendid opportunity to secure "close-in" home property at such prices and on such terms as in West Brook View RIGHT NOW. Reserve your lot today.

SPRANG TO AID OF AN AGED BARTENDER

Frank Berry Thereby Gets
Wish of Appearing Before Judge Kerr.

Frank Berry, 37, got his wish. He has told Judge H. W. Kerr several times that he would like to be hailed before the Bar street magistrate before Judge Kerr leaves the bench.

Berry was in the position he has so long desired, Tuesday morning, but like all successful conquerors he did not seem gratified by his fortune. His object in attracting police attention Monday night was not to hire a lawyer and sit in the prisoner's row, he admitted.

An aged bartender in the saloon at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets was the indirect cause of Berry's answered wish. The fighting forces of the drink dispenser in the saloon in question, have dwindled with the passing years. He is no longer ready to "mix it" when the proper occasion affords. He announced that fact to a couple of young men in the saloon Monday night.

When the fellows kept seeking an engagement it was for Frank Berry to ally himself with the cause of the weak. He delivered an ultimatum to the two young men. There was no mining of terms in the aforesaid message. There was sulphur and shouting.

So police entered and arrested Berry.

Tuesday morning he pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge. As he has not been in court for twelve years he was allowed to go his way.

He Showed Her.

Joseph Ganes, colored, believes in calling bluffs. When Queenie Ganes, also colored, drew a knife on him and called him names Saturday night, he proceeded to "show her who he is." He ended the misunderstanding in a hurry. "I showed her who I was," Ganes told Judge Kerr.

Queenie stated that the big negro hit her in the eye and otherwise disabled her fighting properties. Ganes was fined $1 and costs.

Bound to Higher Court.

Floyd Belmer, 25, was bound to circuit court, under $500 bond, on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of having a part in the stealing of the automobile of Delbert Thompson several weeks ago. Belmer denies any part in the theft but admits being with the men who removed the machine.

Under Adversity.

Benard Ascher proclaimed that he did not know that the draft furnished by an agent of a flying machine company was fraudulent when Ascher helped to pass the spurious paper. He is held under $300 bond while Judge Kerr takes the case under advisement until Wednesday.

Just Careless.

Wesley Bryant, of Hillsville, Ohio, was careless in his dressing Monday morning. He took no note of his appearance when he left the hotel, in which he had remained over night. Bryant insists that he was quietly watching the herculean efforts of a giant steam shovel when police arrested him.

Bryant was charged with indecent exposure of person. Two school girls testified against the man. He was fined $50 and costs.

Other Police Court Cases.

Bessie Turner and Lula Fountain, two colored girls, were fined $5 and costs each on a charge of public intoxication. Thomas Brennan was fined $10 and costs on a like charge because he lingered about the Pennsylvania railroad station.

Other violation cases were: Frank Miller, fined $1 and costs; Dempsey Fox, $1, and Gertie Gustis, $1. John Kenny was released.

Fred Sheldon, charged with association, will be tried on Friday.

No more wrinkles if you wear our new cloth lined neckwear, $1.00 and better.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and all dandruff disappears. Advertisement.

Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them. Like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink. Advertisement.

WILDWOOD COMPANIES WILL HIDE A RAILROAD

Modern Plan Will Insure
Rapid Rise in Value of
West Brook View
Properties.

One of the interesting features in connection with West Brook View, the new Wildwood development on the north side, is the manner in which the Lake Shore tracks are to be "wiped off the landscape." It is the same plan as that used in the development of Ottawa Hills, the finest of Toledo's great residence sections in which the E. H. Close Realty Co. has invested more than a million dollars. E. J. Little, salesmanager of the Wildwood companies, who visited Ottawa Hills last week, states that many of the finest mansions in the new subdivision are built upon grounds which border a railroad, but this fact is never known to those who visit the place for the reason that they cannot see the railroad. A thick growth of trees planted by the Close company completely hides the tracks and cars. Practically the same condition prevails in Fort Wayne, where many of the finest homes are within a few hundred feet of a railroad. This is true, for example, of the homes on West Berry street, west of Broadway, where the presence of a railroad (the Nickel Plate) within a few hundred feet is never realized by the residents of that portion of the city. This is due to the fact that the railroad is completely out of sight, therefore "out of mind."

In West Brook View, this fall, a thick row of willow and Lombardy poplars is to be planted as a border to the railroad, and in the course of a few months the owners of these properties will awaken to the fact that they own mighty valuable real estate which is now being sold at a low price simply because it may be a little difficult to see just how completely the railroad will be eliminated from the scene.

THE DIET OF WORMS

Dramatic Moment When Martin Luther Came to Answer.

IDOL OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE

"Neither Can nor Will Recant Anything"—Great Celebration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the Reformation to Be Held Oct. 31 in Many Churches.

Every one's dinner got cold in Worms when Martin Luther, outlawed, came to answer for himself at the first Diet the Emperor Charles V. held in that city in 1521. Everybody tried to get into the Hall where the Emperor heard him. He was the idol of the German people, the fear of the foreigners and the champion of right.

The Doctors Disagree.

Luther had been excommunicated the year before. Excommunication not only barred from the Church and the hope of heaven, but it also made a man an outlaw and even called on the faithful and the civil authorities to put him out of the way. Luther had defied the Pope. He affirmed that the Pope and even the whole Church might err, and when they erred from the truth of God's Word their authority ended. He was forced to speak out this logical conclusion of his ideas by a debate, beginning on July 4, 1519, with Eck, a great debater and a very learned man.

When the Bull or decree of excommunication came into Luther's hands, he burnt it. Frederick the Wise, who ruled the little country in which Luther lived, would not yield him to the Pope or execute a ban against him himself. So Luther continued to live and work and make trouble for the Pope.

The Emperor and the Pope were political opponents. The Emperor was the supreme lord of the Empire. The Pope's claims were even higher. Each sought to gain adherents against the other. Charles could not afford to lose the favor of Frederick by insisting on the execution of the sentence against Luther. He might be able to bring strong pressure on the Pope through him, and so he determined to leave Luther himself at the Diet.

The summons reached Luther just before Easter, and he came to the Diet immediately after that Festival. All the way he was greeted by throngs of admiring people. Though he had a safe conduct, guaranteeing him protection until he should return, many feared he would be assassinated in Worms. But he went bravely on saying, "If there were as many devils in Worms as there are tiles on the roofs I would have no fear."

The Trial.

It was late in the afternoon and darkness was falling. Luther's books were piled on a table before the Emperor. The representatives of the Church were not present, unwilling to countenance or hear the heretic in his own defense. He was asked if the books were his. When the titles were read he acknowledged them. Asked if he would repudiate his ideas as they appeared in the books, he requested time for consideration.

The next day he was asked, "Will you recant what you have written here?" Luther replied: "There are three groups of my writings. One group, the first, consists of those things which all hold to be true. I could not repudiate these without being the only one to deny them. The second group attacks the tyranny and corruption of the Pope, which are known to all. The third group I have been unnecessarily severe. But to deny them would seem to condone the abuses these men uphold. I therefore could not repudiate them either." This answer did not satisfy, and the Emperor asked for a plain answer. Luther replied: "Unless I am convicted by Scripture or by right reason (for I trust neither in Popes or councils since they have often erred and contradicted themselves)—unless I am thus convinced I am bound by the texts of the Bible, my conscience is captive to the Word of God, I neither can nor will recant anything since it is neither right nor safe to act against conscience. God help me. Amen."

Uproar and confusion followed. The Emperor adjourned the session as Luther said: "I cannot do otherwise. Here I stand. God help me."

That was the stand which affected modern religious liberty and through it to a large degree modern democratic ideals. Individual, democratic freedom in and under God's Word is the hope of national and international progress. It is one of those strange freaks of history that the land which gave Luther, the champion of progress and liberty, the world now stands in the way of the realization of those ideals.

MERCHANTS CHOOSE

G. A. DEHM PRESIDENT

Retail Dealers Will Follow
War Time Request of Wilson.

George A. Dehm, proprietor of the wholesale and retail millinery store at 1104 Calhoun street, was unanimously elected as president of the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants association at a meeting of the organization held at the Commercial club Monday evening. Mr. Dehm will succeed Robert Koerber, who has been a most successful leader of the association.

J. Walter Liggett was chosen vice-president of the merchants' organization. Al Stantz was named treasurer and Attorney Harry F. Kennark was re-elected as secretary.

Retiring President Koerber made a report of the association's activities for the past year that was warmly received. The membership of the organization has been increased by one-third its original number during the past twelve months.

Members of the Retail Merchants association voted to give the national government their every support in this time of world-wide war. The first response of the union of merchants will be to follow the request from President Wilson and the national and state councils of defense which asks that shoppers be allowed to carry home all packages possible.

The national patriotic leagues point out in their appeals to the local merchants' organization that an effort should be made to cut down running expenses and to hold the jobs of the young men who are drafted into military service. One of the greatest avenues of waste is in the delivery department of every store. If patriotic housewives and male shoppers will carry home their little bundles the overhead cost of operating stores and the force of men needed can be cut down to the advantage of the public, the patriotic councils point out.

The merchants voted to make use of the placards furnished by the national and state war organizations and which ask shoppers to carry small packages, to shop early and not to take out goods on approval.

Membership into the organization was voted for the Schlosser Brothers Creamery, 602 West Main street.

An investigation of the proposed increase of freight rates by the Indiana public service commission was asked by the retail merchants. The local dealers hold that the raise in shipping cost is unreasonable and unwarranted.

BUSINESS MAN

GREATLY BENEFITED

E. J. WEHRMEYER, PROMINENT
WAYNE STREET JEWELER,
MAKES STATEMENT.

Herbs With Pepsin

No new article of the times has created such profound interest especially in the larger cities, as has the introduction of Ironated Herbs with Pepsin (in liquid form). People in all walks of life have been attracted to it; the statesman, the professional man, the mechanic, the financier, lawyer, preacher, bookkeeper, farmer, brakeman, society woman, waitress—they all have tested it and permitted the use of their names in telling of it.

Every day local people are coming forward with signed statements, telling of the great benefits they have derived from the use of Ironated Herbs.

E. J. Wehrmeyer, whose place of business and residence is at 111 West Wayne street, was added to the ever increasing stream of voluntary recommendations.

Mr. Wehrmeyer conducts a jewelry store on Wayne street and is regarded as an authority on diamonds and jewels in general.

His progressive business methods have made friends of his customers for him, and it is extremely gratifying to receive the signed endorsement of such men as Mr. Wehrmeyer.

"I saw this Ironated Herbs medicine advertised and heard of the good it was doing for people in a run-down condition, so I bought a bottle and began taking it. I feel a whole lot better now. My appetite has increased and my food tastes natural again. I suffered with gas on stomach after eating. Am happy to say after taking Ironated Herbs it has entirely disappeared. I sleep better and have new strength and energy. My improvement has been so marked that friends ask what I have been taking. I am a great believer in iron for the nerves and blood, and find this organic iron in liquid form acts quicker than any I have ever taken. My digestion is better and I do not feel uncomfortable after eating like I used to. Ironated Herbs, in my opinion is a great medicine and I think it will do as much for others in my condition as it has done for me."

"Concentrated pepsin in Ironated Herbs, the king of digestive agents, working in harmony with the natural gastric juices of the stomach, causes my food to be digested properly with the result that muscular development is rapidly acquired."

Organic iron is the making of thick, red blood and also gives strength to the nerves. Pepsin in concentrated form, dissolves, digests and assimilates the food and the potent herbal extracts destroy and eliminate poisons from the system.

Our demonstrator will gladly explain to you its merits and supply you with a bottle at Meyer Bros. drug store, 902 Calhoun street, Fort Wayne. It is also sold in all Meyer Bros. other Fort

Tomorrow Morning

Just Stop and Think a Minute

Isn't this the opportunity you have been waiting for? Are you tired of the noise and congestion of the city? Have you been longing for a little place in the suburbs where you could find the opportunity to cultivate a garden and really enjoy life, while, at the same time, keeping your employment in the city?

We selected this tract for just such people as you. We first sought an ideal location—one within easy reach of downtown by automobile or interurban. Then we engaged an expert to test the soil to determine its great value in the raising of vegetables and the establishment of orchards. Then we built modern streets through it, designed attractive entrances and completed the place for a perfect suburban community. We've planned it all for YOU and we know you will buy a home site here if you will take the time to see it. In Country Club Gardens "one look means a lot."

Why Country Club Gardens Appeal

The location is delightful—it adjoins the Country Club on the west. It is bordered on the north by the Huntington Road—a fine automobile route into the city.

It has the interurban line of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction Co. on the south, providing hourly service to and from the city, at a fare of about 6 1/2 cents.

The lots average 100 by 200 feet in size—equal to about three city lots.

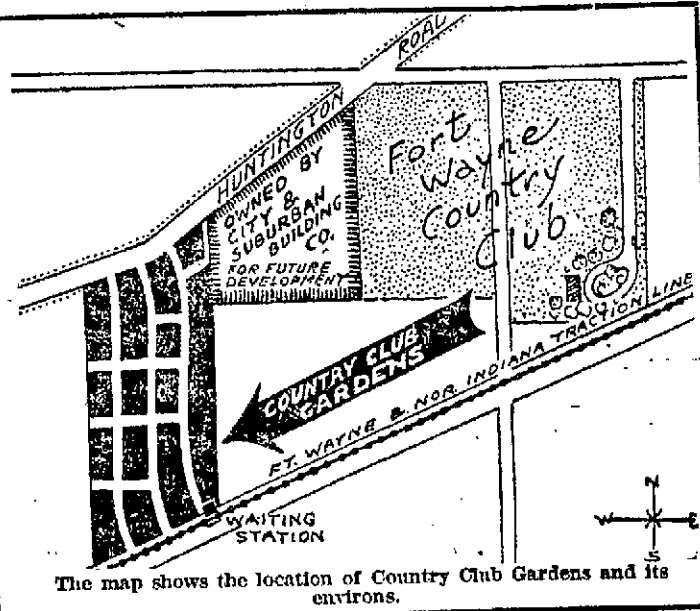

Building restrictions insure a high-class neighborhood. Catalpa trees will be planted along all streets, 35 feet apart.

PRICES AND TERMS:

Choice lots in Country Club Gardens range in price from $300 to $450. Terms: $10 down, and $5 per month.

"ONE LOOK MEANS A LOT"

Beginning tomorrow morning, every salesman connected with the Fort Wayne Real Estate Board is authorized to enter upon the active sale of the Country Club Gardens. Apply to any salesman and you will receive prompt attention.

ANTS HAVE COWS AND HERE'S STORY OF THE WORLD'S MOST UNIQUE DAIRY

Here is a picture of an ant milking his cows. Look closely at the ant's front left antenna and you will see it is squeezing the "milk" out of an aphid, or ant cow.

When Old Father Ant orders his daughter Mary to "go and call the cattle home, and call the cattle home" across the leaves of the tree he means just exactly what he says. And so this is the story of the most wonderful dairy in the world.

His domesticated animals have given man an undue sense of his own superiority. He thinks he's the entire box of Huyler's. Even the man who is modest enough to own he may have been created more than a little bit below the angels, is sure he was made several miles higher than the cows and the chickens. And the fact learn from the ants and bees if he just knows enough to learn them.

Aphids are tiny insects which live on almost every kind of plant life, including trees, and on any part of the plant—root, stems or leaves. They have hard, sharp mouth parts, like pinners, and with these they pierce the skin of the plant and suck up the plant juices.

These juices the insects only imperfectly digest, and the cane sugar which is part of the juice turns into what is called "invert sugar." This tiny insect carries in its body, and it is this sweet liquid that the ants desire for their own food.

By a curious development of instinct the ants have learned how to "milk" the aphids of this sweet juice. The ant presses the abdomen of the aphid with first one antenna and then the other, very much as the milkmaid presses the teats of a cow. The aphid immediately expels from its body the droplet of honey dew, which is seized and eaten by the ant.

The hungry ant will then go on to second aphid and repeat the milking process, until it has consumed five or six drops of the honey dew from as many insects, when, satiated, it will leave its herd of cows until it is hungry again.

The ants know when the aphid has exhausted its supply of honey dew, and in this case, patiently wait until the aphid pumps up another supply from the leaves of the plant.

Some species of ants merely lick the leaves on which the aphids have dropped this honey dew; but most ants have learned to stroke the aphids to get the food.

In return the ant tribes take good care of their aphids. They fight against their enemies. They even build tents to protect them. In case of danger they have been known to pick up the aphids and carry them away to a place of safety. In winter the ants take the aphid's eggs to their own nests, and see that they are hatched out. Then they take the newly hatched aphids to a good "pasture" to "graze" for them, so that they can in turn be milked—just as the farmer treats the calf of his cow. The aphids are entirely satisfied with the arrangement, and never try to escape.

Whether there are any milk routes in the ant kingdom, or milk monopolists or ice cream factories, or dairy-maids' unions—science does not say.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is relatively low off south Atlantic coast and over the upper Mississippi valley; it is high over the St. Lawrence valley and the northern Rocky mountain region. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred in the middle, north Atlantic and gulf states, and in the upper lake region. The temperature has risen quite generally in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, but it has fallen in the far northwest and in eastern and southern sections, and severe frosts have occurred over quite a large area reaching from the St. Lawrence valley southwestward over the lower lake region, and the Ohio and central Mississippi valleys to northern Louisiana and Oklahoma.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

REPRESENTED OVER $200,000,000 STOCK Stockholders of the Wabash Hold Annual Meeting in Fort Wayne.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wabash company in the office of Attorneys Leonard, Rose & Zollars, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the old board of directors was re-elected without change. The greater portion of the $225,000,000 of stock was voted by proxy. Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert, of Fort Wayne, and W. F. Bender, chief clerk at St. Louis, of the vice presidents, acting as judges. The election resulted as follows: William H. Williams, of New York, chairman; Robert Goelet, Henry Rogers Winthrop, J. Horace Harding, Alvin W. Kreech, Winslow S. Pierce, Edward F. Kearney, Henry K. Pomeroy, Guy E. Tripp, Henry B. Joy, John N. Willys, J. Leonard Replongie, William A. Jamison, William V. Stuart and George W. Davison.

William H. Williams, Winslow S. Pierce, Edward F. Kearney and William V. Stuart were the only directors present at the meeting. Other officials present were Vice Presidents J. E. Taussig, J. C. Otteson and J. Minnes, Comptroller L. G. Scott and General Manager S. E. Cotter. Hereafter the annual meetings of the Wabash stockholders will be held May 3 and instead of completing the annual session Tuesday morning, adjournment was taken until May 3, 1918, when the representatives of the stockholders will again assemble in Fort Wayne to complete the session. It is understood that until after that date there will be no change in the official roster of the company, if any is contemplated.

RESULT OF FEWER TRAINS.

Great Saving of Man Power and Fuel on the Railroads.

According to report of Frank P. Haesler, of the railway war board, the increase in the number of passenger trains has resulted in a wonderful saving in coal consumption and in man power in the states which comprise the "central department." The bulletin issued by Mr. Haesler reads as follows:

"A further saving of 90,772 tons of coal per annum, 30 locomotives and 114 men has been effected by reductions in passenger train service on the railroads traversing the fifteen central states designated by the secretary of war as the 'central department.'"

"The total saving of man power, fuel and locomotive power on these railroads in the fifteen states from Ohio to Colorado, by passenger train service reductions, is 1,088,171 tons of coal per annum, 203,097 barrels of oil, 359 locomotives and 1,774 men."

"To the extent shown by the foregoing figures have been increased the facilities of the railroads for the transportation of troop, military supplies and other government business in addition to abnormal commercial traffic, both freight and passenger."

NEW FACES IN LINE-UP.

Several Unions Send New Delegates to Federation.

Eight credentials of new members were acted upon by the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor at the meeting last night. The unions represented included the moving picture, the chauffeurs and the truck drivers, which were recently organized by J. C. Werkman and H. C. Hoeltje. The others were the plumbers, the barbers, the cigar makers and the carpenters, the delegates filling vacancies in those ranks. The business of the session, with the exception of the incident which caused a loss to Fort Wayne of a position on the executive board of the State Federation of Labor, was of a routine character and not of special importance. A communication from the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor promised that the interest of Fort Wayne would be looked after in the distribution of coal. A communication from the St. Joe River Dam association urged the federation to impress upon the minds of the subscribers that the subscriptions were over due and that the money was badly needed. Several of the delegates made short speeches and all gave encouraging reports of the conditions of labor as they affected their respective unions.
